by R. A. Coyle

A fund- raising dinner and dance, the first for the Crusaders, was held in the Faculty Club on Saturday night. With a theme of "Cinderella," the dance, which was sponsored by the Class of '76, attracted about 1000 people to the event.

The Crusaders, under the leadership of Paul Cronin, have been planning the event for several weeks. The funds raised will go to defray the cost of the Crusaders athletic program.

The dance, which featured a "royal" atmosphere, had a registration fee of $5.00, which included a ticket to the dance and a printed program. In addition, there was a cash bar and a variety of refreshments available.

The evening began with a "red carpet" entrance, where guests were greeted by members of the Crusaders. Following the entrance, the guests were directed to their tables, where they enjoyed a sumptuous buffet meal.

The dance floor was filled with guests, who enjoyed a variety of music provided by the Crusaders band. The atmosphere was lively, with guests dancing and socializing.

The evening concluded with a raffle, where guests had the opportunity to win a variety of prizes, including a trip to New York City.

The Crusaders would like to thank everyone who attended the dinner and dance, and who contributed to the success of the event.

The Comment
Dear Sirs,

I am writing in regard to the difficulties we have encountered repeatedly with rolls of student apartments having been issued during the past year. Those of us involved in the construction in progress are faced with clouds of dirt and dust, stirred up by heavy machinery. These difficulties have made it necessary for us to move our work to a different part of the site, as well as for us to continue our work in poor conditions.

We would like to thank you for your understanding and cooperation, and we hope that you will be able to provide us with better working conditions in the near future.

Sincerely,

Dear [Name],

We would like to speak to the recent event on campus where we feel that we are being disrespected.

We are concerned about the recent event on campus where we feel that we are being disrespected. The event in question was the construction of the new student center, which has caused a great deal of disruption to our daily lives.

We have been forced to move our classes to different locations, which has caused a great deal of inconvenience. We have also been forced to deal with the noise and dust generated by the construction.

We feel that we are not being treated fairly in this situation, and we would like to speak to you to discuss our concerns.

Sincerely,

The distance one has to walk as students is often underestimated. For those who feel that "there is an injustice" dealt to commuters who have to walk more than a few hundred feet to a building, I have a question:

If you get to class on time, what do you think is the problem? Is there a reason that you have to walk so far? Is there a reason that you have to be late? These are questions that must be considered when discussing parking issues.

World Hunger is a Serious Problem: You can help: fast on Nov. 12

by Michael S. Levy

World food production increased by 30% from 1965 to 1975. The world's population grew by about the same percentage. Yet the world was able to feed 1 billion people in 1975, compared to only 300 million in 1965. As a result, the world is now faced with the problem of world hunger.

Despite this, there are still 800 million people in the world who suffer from severe hunger. Children in these countries are suffering from malnutrition. In order for these children to grow up normal, healthy adults, a great deal of help is needed.

In order to help, the following are a few ways you can help:

1. Donate food to local food banks
2. Support local food assistance programs
3. Volunteer at a local food assistance program
4. Spread awareness about the issue

These are just a few ways in which you can help. It is important to remember that even small actions can make a difference in the lives of those in need.

Camelot review

The Mother Box

Things that go YAWN in the night

by Bill Buckley

This week I'll continue with the discussion opened last week, but now we'll go into the controversy which has surrounded the production of Camelot at BSC. I know that this is the subject of some confusion and tension among those few who have heard about the production before it actually opened. Just remember that this article will contain some very sensitive facts about a much-discussed production. It's possible that no one has heard about it yet, but if you have, just think about it for a moment, and then you'll know why I'm writing this article some two days before my deadline.

It's hard to believe that, after a six-year absence, the American playwriting duo of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe have returned with a new musical. The story is of King Arthur and his Round Table of knights, the code of chivalry, and the quest for the Holy Grail. The production has been described as a "big deal." Whether it's big enough to support the rather strange events over the weekend, this thing is minutes, sit down, relax, have a cup of coffee, (if your in the commuter being written about two days before my deadline.

She was right. For the next hour I was spell bound. When It was all over, we all stood up and applauded as a sign of appreciation. The audience was very excited and even clapped as the actors took their bow. The producers were very happy with the performance and said that they were going to try to set a new standard in the world of musical theater.

But the new Ginger. My God. They opted for the dumb starlet routine, rather than the mysterious and alluring type. The voice that stole the show as the lady who is presumably happy working on "Dallas" and pushing "Rescue from Gilligan's Island, was the only other character who had changed to any extent was Gilligan. A much more boyish type man-child, as you can see in the picture. The other characters were unchanged, except for the castaways who had not eaten dinner that night.

Three-hour cruise. Of course a storm springs up, and they are once again in a standstill. The climax of his role oj Lancelot. Stephen, who sang "If ever I would leave you" for the play, King Arthur felt like a good actor. His acting and the ladies' through his acting and expressions were superb! His voice was also very, very pleasant. Sandy Forbush, who played the part as well.

The voice that stole the show as Guenevere, closely resembled Julie Andrews. Cheryl Regan, who played the part, sang "The Simple Joy of Motherhood." Her performance was also very touching. She depicted every little detail of Camelot. With the help of her acting, the audience was able to feel the atmosphere of the play, King Arthur felt like a good actor. His acting and the ladies' through his acting and expressions were superb!

The actors, the dancers, the signers, the scenery, the whole production was very, very exciting. It was entertaining and a good improvement of Camelot's old problems.

Since 1975 we’ve gathered our Blue Maguys for Cuervo Gold the gentle way. It's the old way. And still the best.

At Cuervo we know that there is only one way to make Cuervo Gold perfect. The way we’ve been doing it for more than 10 years. That’s why people still nurture our fields of Blue Maguys plants, and why maestros are still used to bring these precious plants to our distillery. For tradition is still the most important ingredient in Cuervo Gold. This is what makes Cuervo Gold truly special. Next, on the rocks, with a splash of soda, in a perfect Sunrise or Margarita. Cuervo Gold will bring you back to a time when quality ruled the world.

Cuervo. The Gold standard since 1975.

Camelot review

The Mother Box

Things that go YAWN in the night

by Bill Bepper

This week, I'll continue with the discussion opened last week, but not exactly in the way I've planned. Last time, I mentioned the situation some time ago, before the actual print date. That missed the point of the article, as an online version is being written about two days before my deadline. If you see a few incorrect references to last week's article, I'll tell you all about it.

This week, I want to take a look at one of the last topics in my previous column, Camelot. "Camelot," premiering this fall in the Student Union Auditorium, will once again be a sub-group of the BSC. It appears to be the last of the trio of productions extending through the end of the academic year.

"Camelot," as interpreted by the Student Union Auditorium, will present a unique blend of the familiar and the unfamiliar. The creators of the production have combined elements of traditional musical theatre with modern day techniques. The result is a show that is both entertaining and thought-provoking.

The story of "Camelot" is based on the 1960 film of the same name, which was directed by Mike Nichols and starred Richard Burton and Julie Andrews. The film was a critical and commercial success, winning seven Academy Awards, including Best Picture and Best Actor for Burton.

The production will feature a talented cast of performers, including young and experienced actors. The performers will bring their unique interpretation of the characters to life, creating a fresh and engaging approach to the story.

"Camelot" will be performed in a modern, intimate setting, with a focus on the audience experience. The production includes elaborate costumes and set designs, as well as a live orchestra.

Tickets for "Camelot" are on sale now, and are expected to sell out quickly. For more information or to purchase tickets, please visit the Student Union Auditorium website.

With three regular games left to play, the BBC hockey team looks like it’s heading for the playoffs. The team has already played several matches this season and is showing signs of improvement. The team has played against various opponents and has maintained a competitive edge in most of the games. The upcoming matches will be crucial in determining their position in the league standings.

Mens Tennis Ends With Victory

On Saturday, October 28, the SSC men’s tennis team had an important victory against Nichols College. The match was considered to be crucial for the team as it marked the end of their season. The team played with great intensity and skill, securing a 6-3 victory against their opponents.

Bears Need Win

By Craig Kern

You’ve got to believe it’s a big game. No, it’s not just that the Bridgewater Bears have a home game against Nichols College Saturday. But, for one reason or another, the Bears must win. If they don’t win, the Bears will probably have to go to New England Football Conference.

Last week Bridgewater shut out Plymouth State, the team that last season forced four of the five NEC and Nichols double to near the upset. It’s a tough team that demoralized an equally tough team called New Hampshire. Mike Armstong, a 2-touchdown kind of guy who beats 60, will be remembered for this. Bob McNally, a 3-touchdown kind of guy, who beats 60, will be remembered for his efforts.

The Bridgewater Bears Face Nichols Saturday in Crucial Game

By Craig Kern

Faster than you can say home, coach John Hennessey’s following the lead of the 4-1 set to 4-1 set and the Bears should be scoring in a few short byes. When you don’t score, it’s like saying you should win. If you lose, you should win. The Bears know they can win.

Bears need win

The Bears could not have asked for a better start to the season. With the win over Nichols, the team now sits at 4-1 in the NEC and 4-4 overall. The team’s next game will be against Nichols on Saturday, October 28, at 3 p.m.

BSC skates and hits the ice, as practices began last Monday for the 1978-79 season. The chips are off their shoulders and their heads are on straight, for if the failings of last season taught them nothing, they learned that it is not just a good performance in the rink that makes a winning team, but hard work in every aspect of the game.

Winning the EIHL championship last season under the leadership of tri-captains Dan Mark, Jake McDermott and Deascon Perrotta, the Bears should have a very competitive team this season.

Of veteran players such as Jack Erickson, Pete Lucia, John MacDonald and Ed Dalton, as well as those of last season's three top point scorers; Ed Kiberd, with 29 goals and 12 assists, will be missed. The forwards are fast, strong and display an unlimited potential to score. Here, the talent of veteran players such as Jack McMahon and Bob Collins, the '78-'79 iceman are working hard, and scored against former powerhouses such as Merrimack.

If one could call seasoned, however it is far from the truth. It is a team tough, new, yet quite determined.

Defensively, the Bears are young and a little inexperienced but quite determined. They are welcomed to try out. Practices begin Sun. Oct. 30, at 3:00 p.m. Please come. The tryouts will be held on Nov. 6 at 3:00 p.m.

Senior Write-In Candidate, Lyons

Mark De. Lyons, 6 Cordova Crescent. Wikibians announce that he will enter the November 7th elections as a write-in candidate. His campaign is to bring attention to the United States senatorial candidates and to the Massachusetts most effective leaders.

Lyons' main issue is the effectiveness of the current and recent Massachusetts state political leaders. His campaign includes a strong emphasis on the Massachusetts muni- sional leaders' ability to maintain the county's economy and current state government. His campaign is focused on the idea that the leaders in the Massachusetts state government are not able to maintain the state's economy.
