Professor Samuel Baugniet, Burnell School Physical Education Instructor, in conjunction with the Brockton School of Gymnastics, is presenting a series of Olympic presentations for a school-wide Olympics project.

The purpose is to teach the children about the Olympics. There have been teaching physical education for several years and not the Olympics are a worthy thing to study," Professor Baugniet explained. "The idea of it is something to be promoted."

Each class is studying a different country. Some of the countries chosen for the study include: Japan, China, India, Russia, and France.

The students, grades 3 through 6, are planning different projects. Anyone who may have visited these countries can offer students insights through, either, speaking presentations, writing letters, or sending in photographs and postcards. The Brockton School of Gymnastics will give a performance at the school in May.

The Olympics will take place from May 12 to May 16. The week will begin with opening ceremonies, lighting of the torch, parade, and a selection of music from the various countries. The last day will include the lighting of the torch and parade.

Dr. Adrian Rondileau, President of Bridgewater State College, says that the major in Computer Science and in Data Processing, augmented by minor programs which already existed in this area is excellent, both locally and nationally.

The Olympics project is designed to prepare students for careers in the computing field, and professional jobs such as systems programmers, applications programmers, and service consultants in the computer industry.

"I've never taken the interest in voting before," Professor Harold Ridlon commented. "But if we don't get involved and take a stand, why are we here?"

"The Presidency sets the direction of the country and of local levels of government," Dr. Murray Abramson, Chairman of the Department of Political Studies completed by the College's Department of Mathematics and Computer Science, said. "The ideals of it are chosen for study include; Japan, China, Italy, Russia, and France."

The students, grades K through 4, are planning different projects.

Do you plan to vote in this year's Presidential Primary and why?

Mary Clark, III

"Yes, I believe that it is our duty to vote on our government. Our system is designed to prevent personal involvement."

Margaret Westland, III

"I don't think I'd like to vote this year. I think I'd like to vote the best is best and change them, then voting is a real fad!"

Editorials

It is an honor for me to write as editor of The Comment. I am writing this as a first year student at Bridgewater State, and I hope to use this opportunity to share my thoughts with the community.

As a student, I have noticed that there are many challenges that we face, both within and outside of our classroom. One of the most important challenges is the need for effective communication. We must be able to speak clearly and distinctly to one another in order to understand each other.

Can you please provide more information about the challenges faced by students? Specifically, how do these challenges affect their ability to communicate effectively?

CHORAL CORNER

Menace. Back in his early days, Alice (real name: Vincent Furnier) used a boa constrictor as a phallic symbol and would attack mannequins and chop up baby dolls. His parody of sex was the goriest of all. This will indeed be a great musical event and an unforgettable experience for all those participating. I extend my congratulations to all the Festival representatives and an invitation to all students, faculty, and administrators to attend the 1st Collegiate Honors Festival.

On January 29th, auditions were held for the 1st Collegiate Honors Choir Festival, and the event was sponsored by the Massachusetts Chapter and coordinated by Dr. Marine Asselin, a member of the Executive Board of the organization. Dr. Asselin was alerted to gay rock by Greg Lake, who sang about "Brain Surgery" and "Brainwash Surgery." The next time you listen to John Paul Jones, who has a voice like a siren, and who announces, "Be my guest in the land of the million and one nights," and when you fall under the spell of the " Cantonese" singer, you may well have hit upon the right band to bring the Festival to completion.

The New York City Jazz Festival will be held on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday at various locations throughout the city. The festival will feature a wide variety of music, including jazz, blues, rock, and world music. The festival will also include workshops, seminars, and jam sessions. For more information, please visit the New York City Jazz Festival website.

Almaan Brothers

The second version of the Vice Vasa micro-club "Comedy Tent" will be shown at the Bridgewater Public Library on Wednesday, February 4th, at 7:00 PM. The event will feature stand-up comedy by local comedians, including Lynne Kugler and Jim Henn. The event is free and open to the public. For more information, please visit the Bridgewater Public Library website.

The ENSEMBLE THEATER

The band is a genuine favorite of the city's music scene, playing at local venues and festivals throughout the year. They have been praised for their dynamic stage presence and their ability to engage the audience. The band's music is a mix of rock, blues, and soul, and they are known for their energetic live performances. The band is preparing for a new album, which they hope to release later this year.

The band is composed of members from the local music community, and they are dedicated to creating music that is both fun and meaningful. They are committed to using their platform to raise awareness about important social issues, and they are always looking for ways to give back to the community.

The band is excited to share their music with their fans and is looking forward to their next performance. They hope to see their fans at their next show and to continue to grow as a band and as individuals. They are grateful for the support of their fans and are looking forward to many more years of making music together.

ROCK AT 26½

By Joe McDonald

Newspaper reporters have certainly become a bit maudlin. This year's look at the bands that helped create a sexual revolution in music, "Judas Priest," has certainly been the most appealing. The band's music has been compared to the work of the male singer-songwriter, with its edgy, aggressive, and honest portrayals of the female voice. With the exception of the cover of a Simon and Garfunkel song, the ensemble has remained true to its original sound. The band's next performance to have its first true rock star, KISS, on February 13 at 7 p.m. and on Thursday, February 14 at 3 p.m. The film "The Boneyard" will be shown at the Bridgewater Public Library on Wednesday, January 30, and "The Nutty Professor" will be shown at the Providence Civic Center on Thursday, March 8.

February 15 through April 6, at the Colonnade Theater. "The Sound of Music," directed by William O'Herron and stars Charles Laughton as the deaf, dumb, and hilarious confrontations between two neighboring South Boston families. The cast includes Zasu Pitts, James Cagney, and Ann Sheridan. "Annie" will be shown at the Suffolk University Theater, 41 Temple Street, on Tuesday, February 19th at 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

The reunited Allman Brothers Band played to a packed house at the Providence Civic Center on Thursday, February 7, 1980. The group, whose songs were written during the '60s, was reformed recently after bitter fights split the band into two factions. The group was originally formed in Macon, Georgia, and has regrouped under the name Allman Brothers Band. The group has included music from their first album up to their last album, "Black Hearted Woman." The band included heavy rocking cuts from "Whipping Post" and the recent "Eat a Peach" recording.

The sculpture and decorative arts of the Late Middle Ages will be highlighted in an exhibit at the Brockton Art Center before February 22, 1980. All members may participate in the show. Each work will be entitled to invite families and friends to a special opening reception. A $40 donation is required, and $20 donations are also accepted. The exhibition will be held at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, and will be open to the public, and will be held at the Brooklyn Museum of Fine Arts.

Dear Editor,

After having been deeply impressed with your coverage of the U.S.A. Student Government Association, I would like to express some thoughts on the role of student representatives in our country's political scene.

I believe that student representatives should not only be concerned with local issues, but also with national and international matters. As a student of XYZ University, I have noticed a lack of interest among students in these broader issues. It is crucial that we as students become more involved in the political process, not just for our own benefit, but for the benefit of our communities and countries as well.

Sincerely,

[Commentary is a feature of The Commont which provides opinion-oriented and analytical perspectives on current issues.]

Dear Editor: During my time in office, the S.G.A. has worked on a few initiatives that I believe will benefit students and the university. One such project was the Student Government Association Bill of Rights.

The Bill of Rights outlines the rights and responsibilities of the S.G.A. members and provides a framework for their operations. It also establishes a process for addressing complaints and grievances within the association.

I am proud of the work that the S.G.A. has accomplished this year, and I look forward to seeing what they will do next year. Continued collaboration and support from the community will be necessary to maintain the progress that we have made.

Sincerely,

Jack Mckay

The BSC Bears overcome early foul trouble, a nagging S.U. defense, and poor free throw shooting to snap their three game losing skid with a 79-70 victory over the Canons.

The Bears loss at Maine, coupled with the Canons' win over Colby last night, puts BSC in a must-win category. The Bears need to win their remaining three regular season games in order to win the Maine Division.

The Bears are without the services of senior forward Mark Agnone, who is on the sidelines recovering from an injury. Agnone has been a key piece of the Bears' success in the past two seasons.

In the second half both teams come out running. Chris Gondros played some solid defense as SMU continued to press him.

Gondros, a junior from Stephen State College, is one of the team's most consistent players off the bench.

In this game, the Bears were able to hold on for the win despite some late game pressure from the Canons.

The Bears are now 14-7 overall and 8-4 in the Maine Division, while the Canons are 14-8 and 8-5.

BSC will face Maine on Saturday night in Orono.

The Bears are looking to notch their first win in the last three years against the Black Bears.

In other college basketball,
Louisville, Duke, St. John's, Ohio
State, Kentucky, and Notre Dame are all in the Top Ten.

The Top Ten is Louisiana State,
North Carolina, Michigan State,
Kansas, Stanford, Duke, St. John's, Ohio State, Kentucky, and Notre Dame.

The Top Ten is not surprising as these are some of the best teams in college basketball. However, the fact that so many teams are really strong this year is making it difficult to pick a winner.

The Bears are currently in a tough spot. They need to win their remaining three games to have a dependable shot at the Maine Division Championship.
