Students Active in Model U.N.

On the weekend of February 21, 26 students of the Bridgewater State College Political Science Department participated in the Harvard Model United Nations. The conference had over 1,000 student participants representing the United States, 186 countries, 3,400 different issues, and 26 world organizations.

B.S.C. represented the third world Central African nation of Chad. Once the assignment was received, two weeks of intense preparation began. The delegation prepared a resolution which defined both.

The demonstration featured the issues of primary health care and the rights of migrant workers in the third world. They discussed the issues in the General Assembly, the Security Council, the International Financial Committee, and the Economic and Social Council.

Liz Luster, a senior, and Jane Walsh, a junior, discussed the resolution, which was passed by the General Assembly.

Bruce Frasier represented Chad on the Legal Committee. They discussed the issues of disarmament, nuclear proliferation, and human rights.

The closing speaker, the regional director and former assistant to the Secretary General if people are willing to work for the future, would like to take this opportunity to give thanks to the people who made our participation in this conference possible. Dr. Alan Hanz, a renowned scholar and former assistant to the Secretary General, provided us with a global outlook on the conference.

Professor Conducts Election Survey

Professor Conducts Election Survey

This has been a very interesting study. Dr. Alice Harris of the Department of Speech Communication, Theatre Arts, and Education conducted a survey of Massachusetts Democratic primary elections from Monday, February 11 through Sunday, March 2. Dr. Harris drew up a questionnaire which was used to collect the following data:

1. The Kelley-Mirer Model of Voting Behavior, Dr. Harris explained. This model suggests that voting behavior can be predicted with high degrees of accuracy. It is based on the theory that the consent of the candidate is more important. The Candidate's position on the environment has much effect as it is on a person's vote. He termed the model as a "package deal" with the voters. He termed the model as a "package deal" with the voters. He termed the model as a "package deal" with the voters. He termed the model as a "package deal" with the voters. He termed the model as a "package deal" with the voters.

2. A Theory Based on Berlyne's Theory of Curiosity. This theory describes the degree of curiosity and the level of interest that people have in various things. It is based on the theory that the consent of the candidate is more important. The Candidate's position on the environment has much effect as it is on a person's vote. A story is the element of a couple of things which have observed itself, which have ceased to wonder about the actuals or actions of the college community toward the College.

Dear Editor,

I would like to comment on the subject of Women in Combat.

Every day, when I was walking around the Grove Street Building, I saw people stepping, climbing, crawling over the branches that have been placed across the lawn. I really have to wonder about these people who are doing this. I'm afraid "tree-huggers" don't exist in this population. Perhaps some sort of damage is being inflicted on a subconscious level, a wishful thinking that the branches are not there.

For me, the only conclusion is that the branches should be removed. Perhaps some feel that defying the branches IS a statement in independence. Such a worthy cause!

For today's issue, I'd like to suggest a book I've read titled "The Silent Army of the College Community Towards the College."

I would really like to know how the students feel about this kind of action. Is it possible.

THE COMMENT will hold a staff meeting on March 25th at 11:00 on the Comment Office.

Members, please attend the staff meeting as we will be holding elections for the recipients of the year's Comment Senior Leadership Awards.

Praise for "a work of art."

Women in Combat

"devastating effects"

Dear Editor,

I read with much interest your article "Women in Combat," which appeared in the March 22 edition of The Comment. I was struck by the depth of your analysis and by the clarity with which you presented the issues involved.

As a feminist, I am particularly interested in the role of women in society and the impact of gender on various aspects of life, including war and peace. Your article effectively highlighted the ways in which women are systematically excluded from combat roles and the devastating consequences that result.

I appreciate your taking the time to reflect on these important issues and to share your insights with our readers. Your article serves as a valuable contribution to the ongoing dialogue about gender and war.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Dear Editor,

I must commend you on your recent article "Women in Combat," which was published in the March 22 edition of The Comment. The article was thought-provoking and well-written, and it raised important questions about the role of women in war and conflict.

As a military personnel, I have observed firsthand the limitations placed on women in terms of combat roles. It is clear that women have the same capacity for bravery and resilience as men, and yet they are often denied the opportunity to serve in these capacities.

I support your call for greater inclusion of women in combat roles, as it is essential for the effective and ethical conduct of warfare. The exclusion of women from these roles is not only a matter of gender equality but also a matter of national security.

Thank you for bringing this issue to our attention and for raising awareness about the need for change.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Mass PRIG Questioned by Marie L. Anderson

Mass PRIG is back for another attempt at bringing the BIC (Boston Industrial College) into line with the wishes of the students. The group, Mass PRIG (Public Interest Research Group) also tried to enlist their sphere of power to close the BIC in a manner similar to PRIG (Public Interest Research Group) received the most attention of all the groups. Mass PRIG is a student group that is the same as being a non-profit organization. As far as their advertising goes, Mass PRIG is just as good as their commitments, but the corporates that have the biggest interest in PRIG are more interested in the issue.

Commentary

AYATOLLAH KHOMEI NI "stalling"

It is said the Ayatollah roused up all of us, and the Ayatollah then "stalled". But the Ayatollah has not taken any action. The Ayatollah's refusal to act is a clear violation of our demands.

Mass PIRG Questioned

Mass PIRG has hit the streets with their typical literature about PIRG's work. This literature is not very convincing for the average person. It seems like Mass PIRG is just trying to make the impression that they are doing good work. However, their methodology is questionable.

The Wizard of Oz

by Richard Petrie

Millie Albert and Jennifer🎃, an amateur theatrical group from the University of Kansas, present WIZARD OF OZ, the 82nd installment of their popular series of fall presentations. Set against the backdrop of the Llantrisant Public Library, this production will feature ten full-length shows, with sold-out performances. The cast of characters is composed of hundreds, all volunteers except for the Courthouse chick, who is paid a single dollar.

The soaring heat of summer is at an end, and the autumn chill has ushered in a new season for entertainment, and WIZARD OF OZ promises to be a resounding success. Tickets are currently on sale at the door for $5.00 each, or $4.50 for students with a valid ID. The showtimes are: Thursday, October 10th at 7:30pm; Friday, October 11th at 7:30pm; and Saturday, October 12th at 2:00pm and 7:30pm. Don't miss out—purchase your tickets today!

Mistakes, Minor Disasters and Space

By Susan L. fibers are these when going shopping, when you can be afraid of it where you least expect it. Either things will call to you or you really should remember the things you hope to remember when the time comes.

Mistakes, Minor Disasters and Space

by Susan D.

There are times when things go wrong, usually when you can least afford it, or when you least expect it. Either you don’t see it coming, or you see it coming, but really don’t want to believe it.

In the case of the 1979-80 season, the Pittsburgh Pirates found themselves in a situation where they needed a player just before turning the corner. The Pirates had just acquired a player from the Chicago Cubs, and the rumor mill was buzzing with possible trade deals. The Pirates needed a player, and they needed him now. But what they didn’t know was that the player they needed was already on the roster, and the one they didn’t need was playing the role of the hero.

The Pirates’ manager, Chuck Tanner, was faced with a decision. He could trade the player he wanted, but it would cost him more than he could afford. Or he could keep the player he didn’t want, and hope for the best.

Tanner chose the latter option, and the Pirates found themselves in a deficit they couldn’t overcome. The season ended with a loss, and the Pirates were left to wonder what might have been.

BSC Club Organizes Demonstration

A large group of BSC students and faculty from the Departments of Health, Physical Education, and Business will participate in the South Shore Plaza on Saturday, March 7, in an organizing meeting for a demonstration in National Physical Education and Sport Week. The demonstration featured athletic training, athletic school education (including a display on the Children's Physical Development Center, a film on heart disease, physical education testing services, and more). The program was organized by the students of BSC's Health, Physical Education, and Sport Week. The organization was stopped to walk, pick up information, and participate.

Professor Conducts Election Survey

The problem statement, the mentioned interest and interests of a study, and the possible options for the study were proposed. The study was conducted to survey the Massachusetts Democratic primary primaries from Monday, February 12 through Sunday, March 4. Dr. Harris drew up a questionnaire, which was used to conduct the following survey:

1. The Kelley Model of Voting Behavior. Dr. Harris explained that the model suggested that voting behavior can be predicted with a high degree of accuracy. The model is based on the idea that people dislike the candidates. What is important in this model is the theory that the choice is irrelevant. The Candidate's position on the environment has as much effect as the position on a particular issue. It is the position that is most important. We are content oriented news and political ads, which appeared on TV and in the papers. The papers will compete with other information. These people were important for our results. To know people were important for the issues involved in the election, they appeared.

2. A Theory Based on Behavioral Theory of Confluence. This theory measures the degree of internal confluence from its sources. It means "people think people talk". This theory is based on the idea that people talk about the issues, and they vote for the candidates who are most popular. These theories were being tested to find if and in what order these differences were important.
