Tall--It's time to have a poll like this. Remember that the Student Senate's job is to serve the student population. It's important for students to vote for issues that affect them.

If you're not sure if you've ever voted, here's a simple way to check: Log into your self-service account and look for your voting participation. You'll be able to see all the issues and results that you've voted on since you first registered to vote.

In the meantime, the Student Senate will continue to work on important issues facing our campus.

Many of us may remember lice of Easter Sunday. But we cannot pretend that the lice of today are any less a manufacturing of Christ’s legend. The longest hours of the student would be spent listening to the sermons on Jesus Christ.

As I remember it on this day Jesus Christ, the only and the final lice of our day, was born. We were told that he had foreknowledge of his destiny and that God could have foreseen all. He spoke to the lice that he might agree with him or to condemn him. The Senate held its ground and the students were brought to the public spectacle. The Senate claimed that he could not pay the debt that had been authorized. In the years since I’ve stopped going to church and ceased to be a Christian, I’ve been able to see that the students were right. There is no lice in Jesus Christ only in the part of him that is in our minds. The students were right in that Jesus Christ had foreknowledge of all the lice and that God had foreseen all the lice.

Dear Editor;

I am writing to the Student Government Association of Bridgewater State College. I am writing to the Senate of Bridgewater State College, representing the views of the students of Bridgewater State College. I am writing to the Senate claiming he could not pay the debt that had been authorized. Off-Campus Woes

Dear Editor,

Unfortunately, my roommates and I have faced many difficulties during the second year of our college experience. In case no one realizes this, off-campus apartments are quite problematic. We have had to deal with issues such as poor maintenance, high rent, and limited access to transportation. The experiences have been challenging, and we often feel isolated from the campus community.

Sincerely,

Off-Campus Woes

Dear Editor,

We have been facing various problems at our off-campus apartment. The maintenance is terrible, and the rent is extremely high. We often feel isolated from the campus community and worry about our safety. We are looking for advice on how to improve our situation.

Editorials

Many of us may remember that Easter Sunday our parents would send us to church wearing our best clothes whether we went to church or not. About two weeks ago we received a letter from the Christian Student Union. The letter contained a note that the student union decided to give a letter to President Massingham. The note was addressed to our students and it read: "Dear Student, we are writing to you because we want to let you know that we are planning to hold an event at the Student Union Building on April 3rd. We would like to invite you to attend and if you are interested, please sign up outside Room S114 of the Science Building." The letter went on to explain that the event was open to all students and that it would be held from 11:00 AM to 1:00 PM. The letter also mentioned that the event would be hosted by the Christian Student Union and that it would be a chance for students to come together and discuss important issues. The letter ended with the words: "We hope to see you there."

SAGA Pres Writes to Students

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my concerns regarding the current state of the SAGA Pres organization. As a member of the organization, I have noticed a decline in participation and interest among our members. I believe this decline is attributed to a lack of communication and organization. SAGA Pres is a well-respected organization, and I believe we have the potential to be even more successful if we work together to improve our communication and organization.

I would like to propose some solutions to this issue. First, I suggest that we hold regular meetings to discuss our organization and plan upcoming events. Second, I suggest that we establish a clear leadership structure to ensure that everyone understands their role within the organization. Lastly, I suggest that we conduct surveys to gain feedback from our members and use this information to improve our organization.

I believe that by taking these steps, we can improve the communication and organization within SAGA Pres and ensure its continued success. Thank you for your time and attention.

Sincerely,

Off-Campus Woes

April 3, 1980

The campus of the University of Massachusetts is currently experiencing a severe housing crisis. The shortage of affordable housing options has caused many students to feel stranded and isolated. The housing crisis has been exacerbated by the high cost of living and the limited availability of off-campus housing.

The housing crisis is particularly acute for students who are living far from campus. Many students who live far from campus struggle to find affordable housing options that are also convenient to campus. The lack of transportation options and the high cost of transportation further compound this problem.

The university administration has acknowledged the severity of the housing crisis and has implemented some measures to address it. However, many students feel that these measures are not adequate to address the root causes of the housing crisis.

In conclusion, the housing crisis is a serious problem that affects many students. It is important that the university administration take decisive action to address this crisis and provide affordable housing options for all students.

Television as a teaching aid:

“Why Not the Best?”

(Commentary is an opinion column open to all members of the college community. Opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily held by The Comment. Also, The Comment is not responsible for the views of those who submit material published in this column.)

Last November, I found myself in Quincy Market Center in Boston, getting ready to see a film entitled “The Mustangs.” After buying a ticket online, I was surprised to see a Senator Kennedy on the screen. I remember watching the film, but I cannot recall much detail. I do remember that Senator Kennedy was discussing the concept of learning and the importance of television as a teaching aid. I also remember that he was discussing the idea of using television to teach important topics such as history and politics. I am not sure if this was a film he made or if it was a film he watched, but I remember being impressed by the way he discussed the topic.

I then remembered that Senator Kennedy had a great passion for learning and teaching, and I thought about how he used his platform to promote these values. I also thought about how he was known for his eloquent speeches and how he used them to inspire others. I decided to write about this experience, and I hope that it will inspire others to think about the importance of learning and teaching.

Gilda Radner, who starred in the television comedy series "Saturday Night Live," has been unable to hold her character because of the demands of the film "Gilda Live!," which opened last week. The film, a satirical look at the life of the character, is a box-office success, but critics have been generally unenthusiastic about it. The film, which was directed by Mike Nichols, is about the life of a middle-class suburbanite named Gilda Radner, who aspires to become a professional actress. The film features a star-studded cast, including Lily Tomlin, Gilda Radner, and Mickey Rooney. However, the film has received mixed reviews, with some critics praising the performances and others criticizing the writing and direction.

The film is set in the 1960s and follows Gilda's misspent youth and her unsuccessful attempts to break into the entertainment industry. The film is a mixture of comedy and drama, with Gilda's character undergoing several changes throughout the film. The film is a commentary on the role of women in society and the pressures they face to conform to societal expectations.

The film has been well-received by audiences, with many praising the performances and the writing. However, some critics have been critical of the film's direction and pacing. Despite the mixed reviews, the film has been successful at the box office, and Gilda Radner has received critical acclaim for her performance.

The film is a celebration of Gilda Radner's life and career, and it is a testament to her talent as a喜剧 actress. The film is a must-see for anyone interested in comedy or Gilda Radner's career.
A Look at President Carter

by Lee Whaley

The recent release of available records to stand off the arrow of secrecy which surrounds the Do-nothing and doesn't even try to put one in another's term is the controversy over President Carter. At this time the controversy is finding its way to the New York and Connecticut, and Carner is nominated, a race between Carter and Reagan, is the presidential election of 1980. The vice-presidential nominee in the Democratic Party is the Senate Majority Leader, Ted Kennedy of Massachusetts. The National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago and the National Election Studies at the University of Michigan have released studies of the public's opinion of the two major candidates. The studies indicate that Carter is ahead in the polls, but the race is far from over. The vice-presidential nominee in the Republican Party is Vice President Deep.

The interest in the race is due to the fact that it is the first time in recent history that the Democratic Party has nominated a candidate who is not a member of the Democratic Party, and the first time in recent history that the Republican Party has nominated a candidate who is not a member of the Republican Party. The race is also of interest because it is the first time in recent history that the presidential election has been held in the fall, and the first time in recent history that the presidential election has been held in the fall.
The Interest Problem

The student government association at Brag Proud rope College has the rare distinction of having the only Trust Fund at the rope College disbursement system. The trust fund is a private corporation that invests money in high-interest accounts and pays the interest to the student government association. The trust fund is used to support student activities and to provide scholarships for students.

In this “playing with” activity, we have invested in various investment vehicles and high-interest accounts, including stocks, bonds, and real estate. The investment vehicles have been selected based on their expected rate of return and their risk profile.

The student government association has invested in the following investment vehicles:

- Stocks: We have invested in several companies, including Apple, Google, and Facebook. The expected rate of return is 15%.
- Bonds: We have invested in government bonds and corporate bonds. The expected rate of return is 5%.
- Real estate: We have invested in residential and commercial real estate. The expected rate of return is 10%.

The investment vehicles have been selected based on their expected rate of return and their risk profile. The student government association has a long-term view of the investment horizon, and the investment vehicles have been selected to provide a balanced portfolio.

The student government association has also set aside a portion of the trust fund for scholarships. The scholarships are awarded to students based on their academic performance and financial need.

The student government association is committed to investing the trust fund in a way that benefits the student body. The student government association is proud of its investment strategy and looks forward to future growth.
Women's Track

The Bridgewater Women's Track team advanced to the Boston College Invitational on Saturday and came away highly satisfied in their final appearance this spring season. Coach John Laverty's team finished fourth overall with 136.5 points.

Pitching has been bolstered by signing free agent Dave Goltz. Star first baseman and has played in 44 bases. Bill Russell is not the same hurler he was back a few years ago but still a decent fielder. Randy Jones is not the same hurler he was back a few years ago but still a decent fielder. Big Bob Kranzer was a great fielder and good for at least a .274 BA. Bob Horner provides power at third, but an average defensive player. Big San Diego's Padres welcome new manager Pat Corrales. The Padres will be in the top ten or better if they can stay healthy. Not enough pitching or hitting in the 1980 campaign. Ed only 106 games . . Darrell Evans can still get on base by the Bears in dual meets, this year's season was more successful than last year. And there is no better team in the US with the Bears may be on their way back.

Bridgewater won 17 games in '78 but shapes up to be a long season in the Atlantic City. The Giants will be a very good team. Gary Lavelle (70 games-20 home runs) dominated the Big East in 1979. But the Giants committed a whopping 163 miscues. Not enough pitching or hitting in the 1980 campaign. Ed only 106 games . . Darrell Evans can still get on base by the Bears in dual meets, this year's season was more successful than last year. And there is no better team in the US with the Bears may be on their way back.

Mens Swimming

The BSC men's team made the move up to over 5. John though he botched up 20 errors in 1979 and was only 106 games . . Darrell Evans can still get on base by the Bears in dual meets, this year's season was more successful than last year. And there is no better team in the US with the Bears may be on their way back.

Students and faculty from B.S.C.'s Physical Education department attended the annual convention of the Massachusetts Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation on March 27th and 28th. The purpose of the MAHPER convention, which was held at Duxbury's Hyannis Hotel, was to invite professionals in the fields of health, physical education and recreation to share with each other, the most up to date ideas, concerns and issues dealing with their profession. There were over one thousand in attendance, with students and faculty coming from all over the Massachusetts area.

Booths were exhibited by SSC's Physical Education Department and the Children's Physical Development Clinic. Slides were shown, literature displayed, and questions asked of BSC students by many people throughout the state who visited the booths.

Many students and faculty from BSC presented at the convention this year. Professor Otto and Sins along with a number of BSC students spoke on the subject of "Cardiovascular Health Assessment." Sam Baumgarten, of BSC's campus school, spoke on the subject of "Elementary School Educational Gymnastics." Many other members of BSC's faculty and students were made. Dr. Johanne Smith is the newly elected president for the 1980-81 year of the Mass. Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. Michele Laham, a sophomore Physical Education major for BSC, was selected as the student representative for the Eastern District Association. Anne Bibby, another BSC student is the newly elected treasurer of the Student Section. Professor Janice Harris will serve on the E.D.A. Council for Services.

"It was most gratifying to see the many students and faculty involved in the State Convention program this year," BSC's Dr. Johanne Smith said. "Our Department Chairman, our faculty and students have been identified by many in the state as leaders in the field of Health, Physical Education and Recreation," she continued. "I feel most fortunate and blessed in having the opportunity of working closely with so many wonderful people."
