Letters to the Editor

“not offended”

Dear Editor,

I regret to write for the fifth time to you regarding the manner in which the student body was treated. I do not wish to offend, for that is the last thing I would do, but cannot help but feel that the student body was not treated with the respect due it. The student body is a part of the university and should be treated as such.

Sincerely,

“manifestation of racial hatred”

Dear Editor,

I was very surprised to read in the most recent issue of the newspaper that there is a manifestation of racial hatred on campus. I have always thought that this university was a place of education and understanding, and that it would be free from such hatred. I am appalled by this news and I hope that the university can do something to prevent it.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor,

I sent my new toothbrush to the toothbrush company for repair because it had a defect. However, it was damaged beyond repair, and the company replaced it at no cost to me. I was delighted.

“manifestation of racial hatred”

Dear Editor,

I was really upset by the anawer of the executive assistant to the SenatorGeneralll's position. The reader who claims that there is a "manifestation of racial hatred" is simply showing ignorance of the issue.

Friends. On Wednesday night, April 23, the library’s auditorium will be turned into a lighted stage, where the state of New York will be noted. Songs such as “Tomorrow” and “Happy Birthday” will be sung as messages to special friends from a secret admirer! The group is believed to be the Songs and Such Sextet, who are members of the singing telegram and cake service here on campus.

Why not drop a line and let them know. It’s easy! All you have to do is type the name, address, and telephone number of the person sending the telegram as well as the name, address, and occasion of the person to whom the message is to be delivered. Drop off the information at the student service desk in the auditorium. The 4PM show is open to the public for one week to help raise funds for the library.

A Bad View

Rolling Stones continue the tradition of rock and roll as the group’s new album “Sticky Fingers” is released. The album features the talents of lead singer Mick Jagger and his bandmates Keith Richards and Charlie Watts. The album includes the hit single “Brown Sugar,” which was originally released as a single in 1969.

“Brown Sugar” is a slow, soulful number that showcases Jagger’s distinctive vocal style. The song features a soulful piano accompaniment and a driving rhythm section that sets the tone for the rest of the album. The band’s signature sound is evident throughout, with Jagger delivering a powerful performance on vocals.

The album also includes other highlights such as “You Can’t Always Get What You Want” and “Tumbling Dice.” These songs showcase the band’s ability to write compelling lyrics and deliver them with passion and intensity. Overall, “Sticky Fingers” is a strong album that captures the Rolling Stones’ signature sound and delivers a powerful sonic experience.

The group offers live performances every Wednesday night at 8PM in the library’s auditorium. They perform a variety of songs, including holiday classics, pop hits, and even some of their own original compositions. The group is open to all gender identities and is inclusive.

The stage is set for an evening of music and excitement. The room is filled with the sounds of guitars and drums as the band begins to play. The crowd is on their feet, dancing to the rhythm of the music. The band members are dressed in their signature black outfits, playing with passion and energy.
