Letters to the Editor

"does not make the movie meritorious...."

Dear Editor,

I read with a certain amount of interest the review of "Dressed to Kill" by Michael S. Butzgy in the October 6th issue. Butzgy's review is not a fair one. He seems to have let his personal feelings get in the way of his critical judgment.

Butzgy was not the only one who criticized the movie. Many other critics have done so as well. However, their reviews were objective and fair. Butzgy, on the other hand, seems to have let his biases get in the way of his writing.

I am writing this letter in order to express my disapproval of Butzgy's review. I believe that a good critic should be able to separate his personal feelings from his critical judgment. Butzgy has failed to do this.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor,

I am writing to you in response to your article on the movie "Dressed to Kill." I believe that your review was not fair and accurate. You seem to have let your personal feelings get in the way of your critical judgment.

I think that a good critic should be able to separate his personal feelings from his critical judgment. You have failed to do this. Your review is not objective and does not provide a true representation of the movie.

I believe that the movie "Dressed to Kill" is a good film that deserves to be seen by all. I hope that you will reconsider your review and provide a more accurate and fair representation of the movie.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor,

I was a little concerned to read Elizabeth Maleux's review of the Polish Film

I missed "Wiosz" in KP, but I saw a screening of it in Poland. The one screening

I found the film to be quite compelling and insightful. It is a true reflection of the

I was particularly moved by the scenes depicting the struggles of the characters and

I agree with Maleux that the film had some flaws and shortcomings. However,

I believe the film is worth watching for its thought-provoking themes and

I encourage others to give it a chance and draw their own conclusions.

Sincerely,

BSC Professor Seeks State Candidacy

The composition of the Massachusetts State College System is to be changed as part of a legislative process. The current system is in operation until March 1, 1981. The Board of Regents for State Colleges is considering a new plan, recently made a study before the Board of Regent for State College.

Reorganization Effective in March

The last formal meeting of the Massachusetts State College System continues to examine the possibility of forming a new college system. This plan is based on the idea that the college system should be more responsive to the needs of the Commonwealth. The Board of Regents is interested in the new plan, and the new plan has been enacted. The new plan is expected to be implemented by the end of March 1981.

Zepplin will Never Be the Same

In 1980, Led Zeppelin was rehearsing for their first tour in years when John Bonham died. Now, because of the group's long delays in albums and tours, there is no replacement for Led Zeppelin. To me, that is what a rock and roll band should be. They should become just a clean sounding, timeless songs, and the ability to bring the crowd to their feet. Whether the vehicle is right or left hand drive, also, no ornaments may hang from the inside rear view mirror. The foregoing statutory provisions are meant to protect the Commonwealth.

The Reorganization of the Massachusetts State College System is coming soon. The current system is in operation until March 1, 1981. The Board of Regents for State Colleges is considering a new plan, recently made a study before the Board of Regent for State College.

The campus security office appears to be understaffed, due to the lack of adequate staffing. There is a new position open for a security officer, and the board has considered the possibility of hiring two additional officers to work each of the three shifts. The campus security office is being reorganized in an effort to streamline the system. The board believes that an adequate amount of security is necessary for the operation of the college.

"Please restore our beloved Boyden Hall..."

Dear Editor,

In the September 25th issue, there was an article in regards to the renovation of Boyden Hall. The writer stated that "the renovations are nearly completed," and "it's looking very different." I know it looks different. What I've been wondering is -- why is it yellow?

Boyden Hall is of the Federal Style, as is the State House. When Charles Bulfinch began the State House in 1795, he never would have painted it yellow! The facade should be white to create a simple elegance and balance the weight of the rest of the building without distracting from its strength. (Ask anyone who has taken American Art and Architecture.)

In conclusion, I ask, please Mr. Meaney, restore our beloved Boyden Hall to the condition in which it should be.

Sincerely,
Louise Burke

The Center has really grown in the last semester and many new people have joined. The Womyn's Center has a resource room with dvds, books, flyers, and other materials. The center focuses on current issues, current concerns, diversity, sensuality, and much more for our everyday use. This also has referral services for any needs that are met in the center. The Center is open right now that there is no money in the budget, but many fundraising activities are being planned. Laila Madrid and Cathy Lemerson, two co-directors, have set out many events that will take place throughout the year.

The first event will be a discussion on the rights and values of women with the logo of the Womyn's Center on the left hand corner. (Cont. p. 11)

MISTAKE-PLAGUED BEARS FALL 10-9

by John Sullivan

The Bridgewater State Bears probably wished they had gone to hunt moose instead of playing football this past weekend. In a game that could have been won by the Bears, the bears were defeated by U.N.H., 10-9. They lost control of the ball and the game early and then proceeded to look bad for the remainder of the afternoon.

The Bears were able to start their game off well as they took the ball downfield. However, their efforts were brief as they were stopped for a loss of five yards on the 48 yard line.

On the other field the Suburban Swill Buckets won the lobby of Kelly Gym. Dave "Psycho" Richards, Ed James, and Sylvia, and Grunt Levin. However, the team from the Building and Grounds department was defeated by the Suburban Swill Buckets 6-0.

The Bears went on to take the lead of the game as they marched to within the 10 yard line on their first drive of the game. But the defense of the Bears gave up a touchdown.
