Bridgewater Water is Still Contaminated

Last year Bridgewater was one of 87 Massachusetts communities that experienced a water contamination event. The most recent of these was in March and involved a chemical called perchlorethylene (perc). The contamination was detected by the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Quality and Regulatory Affairs (DEQRA). At that time a partial evacuation of the town was recommended. However, the health risk associated with this contamination was never determined. The evacuation was lifted after a month, and the town returned to normal operations.

The election of 1980 has made an impact on the political ideology of America whose opinions will be for or against in what will happen. In the days following the election people went to the White House to protest conservative politicians to appear on a recent television show, “The New Republic.” The wave of conservatism that has been building for the last few years culminated in foreign policy proved unacceptable, and led to a new generation of conservative legislators now in the control of Ronald Reagan. In fact, every conservative, from home to decorating changes, and others are only a few new laws today that have been discussed in this country, week by week. The legacy of today’s student cohorts.

First of all, I was not a political science student, the few policies, in the eyes of people, have proved ineffective. One need only look at the front page of any newspaper to see the change in political change for the American people. What the liberal vision has happened to a possible planet to take a right turn. The liberal vision has happened to a possible planet to take a right turn. The liberal vision has happened to a possible planet to take a right turn. The liberal vision has happened to a possible planet to take a right turn.

For instance, what will be the result of these changes? Only time will tell, but maybe...

The legacy of today’s student cohorts.

Three Painters

DECEMBER 1, 1980

The paintings of these young Swiss artists will be on exhibit in the Art Center Gallery. Arranged by anthropologists, Christine and Edward Franquemont, these remarkably beautiful textiles are presented within the context of the folk art and cultural traditions in which they were woven. Accompanying the textiles are typical examples of Peruvian weaving traditions, firsthand views, and interpretations of some of the more traditional techniques of weaving and dyeing. The exhibit is scheduled through December 16 and is free to the public.

New Coffeehouse Offers

"Off the Common" Coffeehouse and Performing Arts Forum, located in the Parish Hall of the First Unitarian Church, on School St., next to the Arts Center on lower campus, in Bridgewater has scheduled its November program of music and events. "Off the Common" sponsors coffeehouse nights, concerts, and entertainment programs, featuring the best sampling of area musicians and performers: "Off the Common" supports the education of the Arts Center on lower campus, in Bridgewater and is open to the public. Admission is free.

An Evening of Contemporary Music

On November 8, folk singer and contemporary songwriter, Jim Monahan, will appear in a coffeehouse evening of original and contemporary music. Monahan is a volunteer, non-profit organization committed to the fostering of local and area musicians, songwriters, and performing artists. Preis the evening's performances will be featured in a special evening of traditional music and folk traditions. Monahan is a volunteer, non-profit organization committed to the fostering of local and area musicians, songwriters, and performing artists.

Bears Back on Winning Track, 21-3

by Dusty Cheever

The Bridgewater State Bears survived a late-game scare and returned to the脚 of Mount Whitehead last Saturday afternoon when they defeated the Watertown College Bears, 21-3. The Bears were led by their #1 scoring quarterback Dusty Chapeau, who threw for 300 yards on the day and also passed for one touchdown.

At the end of the first quarter, the Bears had a 7-0 lead over the Watertown College Bears. The Bears were able to capitalize on a fumble by the opposing team, which was recovered by Bears' defensive end. The Bears were also able to convert a 30-yard field goal attempt in the first quarter.

The Bears' second quarter was highlighted by a 30-yard touchdown pass from Chapeau to Bears' wide receiver Jeff Taylor, giving the Bears a 14-0 lead at halftime.

In the third quarter, the Bears continued to dominate the game, scoring another touchdown on a 20-yard run by Bears' running back Bob Cola. The Bears led 21-0 at the end of the third quarter.

The Watertown College Bears were unable to answer the Bears' scoring with a score of their own in the fourth quarter, which ultimately sealed their fate and resulted in a final score of 21-3.

Bears' defense was solid throughout the game, holding the Watertown College Bears to just 100 yards passing and 98 rushing yards. The Bears also forced two turnovers, which they converted into points.

The Bears' next game is scheduled for next Saturday against the Southern New Hampshire University Penmen. The Bears are looking forward to the challenge and hope to continue their winning streak.

Bears' players and coaches were all pleased with the win and are looking forward to the upcoming games. The Bears are currently ranked #1 in the New England region and are eyeing a spot in the national championship.

Coach Pete Mazzaferro, who has been leading the Bears for the past five years, said, "Our players worked hard in the off-season and it paid off today. We played a great game and kept our momentum going. We're looking forward to the next game and hope to keep our winning streak going."
Speaker Discusses Affects of Exercise on Students with Cardiovascular Disease

by Susan Leoni

Dr. Rose Wasser, Chair of the Department of Psychology at Tufts University, discussed the affects of exercise on students with cardiovascular disease. The report was based on her research presented at the annual meeting of the American Psychological Association.

Dr. Wasser began by explaining that exercise can have a positive impact on the cardiovascular system, reducing the risk of heart disease and improving overall health. However, for individuals with cardiovascular disease, exercise can be more challenging and may require medical clearance and proper supervision.

Dr. Wasser then presented data on the physiological responses to exercise in individuals with cardiovascular disease. She discussed the importance of monitoring heart rate and blood pressure during exercise, as well as the need for gradual increases in intensity and duration of exercise.

Dr. Wasser also emphasized the need for adequate warm-up and cool-down periods to prevent injury and reduce the risk of strain or injury.

Dr. Wasser concluded by emphasizing the importance of individualized exercise programs for students with cardiovascular disease. She recommended working closely with a healthcare provider to develop a safe and effective exercise plan.

In conclusion, Dr. Wasser's research provides valuable insights into the affects of exercise on students with cardiovascular disease. The findings underscore the importance of monitoring physiological responses and developing individualized programs to ensure safe and effective participation in physical activity.
