MS.
Gloria Steinem
Lectures at BSC

The Student Union Program Committee at Bridgewater State College is proud to announce a lecture by Ms. Gloria Steinem. The lecture will take place in the Bannum at 9 a.m., April 29, 1981. Gloria Steinem is one of the country's best known and most critically acclaimed non-fiction writers. She is currently an editor and writer of "MS." magazine.

Ms. Steinem was the author of "Scary" some years ago. Ms. Steinem's work has appeared in many magazines and newspapers, such as the United States, England, and several Japanese newspapers, and several campaign publications. Ms. Steinem has served as editorial assistant to "Shen" magazine, Her Publications, Conde Nast Publishing, and McCall Publishing Company. She was contributing editor and political stovepipe of 'The Atlantic' magazine in 1971. Ms. Steinem was named the first recipient of Simmons College's Doctor of Ethics, Music degree in 1972. Ms. Steinem's most frequent writing subjects are politics, current sociology, profiles with special emphasis on political movements among women and minority groups.

The Students Union Program Committee for Women is one of the recipients of the National Women's Political Convention, 1971, and serves as the Advisory Committee.

Tickets for the lecture are available at the Student Union Information Booth, $1.50 for Bridgewater State College students, Faculty, and Staff, $2.00 for the public.

"The home"

"Hello! I must arrive home lensing talking about Columbian College and Juan Valley."

"Yes, you have a book of mine at the Bridgewater Library. There is a portrait on your desk. Did you use it?"

"No, it probably in the bottom of my closet. I think it in the room."

"THREE WEEKS LATER"

"I'm home! Did Juan go out again this morning for the sticky beans?"

"Yes, he's got another letter from the store. This one is sensuous."

"Better read it then."

Dear Son,

How could you not return "The Peary Little Pussy" after our tempestuous reading? We have your dog, Huey, in custody, and we will continue to hold him until the "Pussy" is again reading safely, on the shelf in the Maxwell Library. A small house has been built beyond Huey's reach. He sleeps quietly. I don't know how loud a dog is.

Upon the return of the aforementioned "Pussy" book, you will be charged the price of the book and all the bathroom facilities, all the towels, and a canister for each Unioniion. The snake gets higher each day you crack and the steaks hang on.

Affectately,

Harlow L. Brewer

Included with the letter was a copy of Maxwell instructing me to dispose a large amount of money in the 5th copy of "Richard's" "The Wealth of Nations." I told him not to finger in the money and we are not impressed by the name. They would be half the Library Lecturer Hall.

"Lettuce. Huey again. So friends - don't be petty with "The Peary Little Pussy."

To the Editor:

I am an engineering student at the University of XYZ, a large public research university. The experience of working on campus has been incredibly rewarding in many ways. My professors have been excellent role models for me, and I have been able to learn a lot from them. However, as a student, I have also encountered some challenges. One of the biggest challenges has been balancing my time between coursework and extracurricular activities. I have been involved in several clubs and organizations, and these activities have been a great source of support and motivation for me. However, I have also had to learn how to manage my time effectively in order to keep up with my coursework.

But this is okay, because our professors are always there to help. They are very approachable and willing to provide feedback and guidance. I have found that the most effective way to learn is by asking questions and seeking help when I need it. The engineering community is very supportive, and I have found that my classmates are always willing to help each other.

However, there is one aspect of the campus environment that I don't think is as beneficial as it could be. The emphasis on competition and comparison can sometimes be overwhelming. I have noticed that some students become very competitive with each other, and this can create a stressful environment. I think it would be helpful to have more opportunities for students to collaborate and work together towards a common goal.

Dove to the Reader:

I am a student at the University of XYZ, and I have been very impressed with the opportunities that the university provides for students. I have been able to take a variety of courses that have expanded my knowledge and skills. The university has also provided me with numerous opportunities to get involved in research and extracurricular activities. I have been able to participate in several research projects and have had the opportunity to work with some amazing professors.

One of the biggest challenges that I have faced as a student is balancing my coursework and extracurricular activities. I have found that it can be difficult to find enough time to do everything that I want to do. However, I think it is important to prioritize my time wisely and make the most of the opportunities that are available to me.

Overall, I have found that the university environment has been very positive and rewarding. I have been able to learn a lot and have had many opportunities to grow and develop. I would definitely recommend the university to other students who are looking for a challenging and rewarding experience.

Dear Michelle,

You're right, and I've been going together for several months. You're right about shielding those who are unprepared or unequipped. However, I would like to point out two important factors. Firstly, your statement is not an absolute truth, and it may vary depending on the situation. Secondly, your proposal is a bit too extreme, and it might lead to unnecessary confusion and tension.

Best regards,

Dear Gabby,

I appreciate your concern about the upcoming meeting on student loans and the federal government's role in providing access to higher education. However, I would like to clarify that the government's primary goal is to ensure that students have access to educational opportunities without bearing too much debt. It is important to balance the needs of students with the financial stability of the government.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Dear Tired,

I understand your concern about the upcoming meeting on student loans and the federal government's role in providing access to higher education. It is crucial that we address the issue of student debt and work towards finding a solution that benefits both students and the government.

Best regards,

Dear Michelle,

Your friendship and the time we have spent together have been a true blessing. I am so grateful for the laughter and love we have shared. You have been a rock for me during some tough times and I am looking forward to many more years together. I love you and I am always here for you.

Sincerely,

Dear Gabby,

I hope this message finds you well. I wanted to reach out and catch up. It's been a while since we last spoke and I've been thinking about you. How have you been? Life has been busy for me lately, but I always make time for you.

I wanted to ask if you had any free time this weekend. Maybe we could grab lunch or catch a movie? Let me know when you're available.

Best,

The Clinic Program, the only one of its kind in New England and in operation since 1974, is devoted to the psycho-motor (play/sport) and social improvement of special needs children ranging in age from 18 months through 2 years. A child's program may consist of the following areas:

- Early Intervention
- Physical Fitness
- Perceptual Motor Development
- Fundamental Motor Skills and Patterns
- Skills in Aquatics, Dance, Individual and Group Games and Sports

Clinicians work on a one-to-one basis with a special needs child for eight Saturday mornings in carefully planned activities both in the gymnasium and the pool. The experience is beneficial not only to the child, but also provides unlimited satisfaction for the clinician. In addition to the gratifying feeling, the clinician receives valuable training which aids in the development of professional skills and knowledge that will assist individuals in acquiring jobs in their related fields.

The deadline for application is May 15, 1981.

A REVIEW

by Jeremy Mason

It must be the season for active roller type films. "Nighthawks" is the film within the month which fits into the type "Theatrical Action" which we also refer to as the type "Drama." The reviews are generally favorable to the film, and the film has already been released in many cities. The film "Nighthawks" is a great film for the active roller type film fan.

ON THE ROADS AGAIN

BY Neil Barret

Belated congratulations go to Dr. Joseph Huber and his students who ran the Boston Marathon on April 20. This was the 85th running of the Boston Marathon and one of the highlights of the year for the Children's Physical Developmental Clinic at Bridgewater State College. The marathon was Huber's first, and he finished in 3:27:05.

Marathon, runs 75 miles a week, and yet he did not feel the effects of the severe weather conditions that greeted him at the starting line of the marathon. Huber has trained for the marathon for over 20 years, and he is an inspiration to all who know him.

But the greatest achievement of the day was the performance of the Children's Developmental Clinic at Bridgewater State College. The clinic's runners, led by Huber, finished in 10th place, with a time of 3:09:35. The team was led by Huber and his students, who ran the entire marathon and helped to raise over $10,000 for the clinic.

The Children's Developmental Clinic at Bridgewater State College is a training ground for young people with disabilities, and the marathon was a great success for the clinic. The runners were led by Huber and his students, who ran the entire marathon and helped to raise over $10,000 for the clinic.

"The Sport of Kings" - The Boston Marathon

The Boston Marathon is a race that has been run for over 120 years, and it is one of the most prestigious marathons in the world. The race is held in Boston every April, and it is a 26.2-mile race that starts in the heart of the city and finishes on the historic Freedom Trail.

The marathon is one of the biggest events of the year in Boston, and it draws thousands of runners and spectators from all over the world. The race is also a race of challenges, as runners must battle through hills and steep climbs to reach the finish line.

But the most impressive thing about the Boston Marathon is the way that it brings people together. The race is open to all ages and abilities, and it is a race that is open to all. The runners are all unique, and each one of them brings something special to the race.

The Boston Marathon is a race that is not just a race, but it is also a community. The runners are all part of a community, and they support each other through the race. The marathon is a race of friends, and it is a race of family. The runners are all part of a community, and they support each other through the race.

The Boston Marathon is a race that is not just a race, but it is also a community. The runners are all unique, and each one of them brings something special to the race.
