BSC CENSURED

CENSURE: What Does It Mean?

By Tom Gregg

The AAUP action to place Bridgewater State College on its "benev­olent" list represents an attempt to apply pressure on the state's public education system, and the Student Government Association (SGA) is one of the groups that has become involved in the process.

The SGA has been working on the issue of BSC's censure since the beginning of the academic year. The group has held several meetings with the administration and has been in contact with other student organizations on campus.

The purpose of the proposed boycott is to bring attention to the issues of academic freedom and tenure at BSC. The SGA is concerned about the recent decision to fire Professor Harris, and the group wants to ensure that the faculty has the right to tenure and to express their opinions.

The SGA has also been working with the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) to coordinate their efforts. The AAUP has designated BSC as "censured," meaning that the association will not recognize the institution's academic proceedings.

The SGA is asking the administration to reconsider its decision and to work towards a resolution that respects the principles of academic freedom and the rights of faculty members.

The SGA's efforts are being supported by other student organizations on campus, as well as by students who are concerned about the state of higher education in Massachusetts. The group believes that the administration should take the SGA's concerns seriously and work towards a solution that is in the best interests of all stakeholders.
Dear Class of 1982:

It's the time to make the transition from the Student Union to the Student Senate. This year we must move from the Social Committee to Senator. We are now the Student Senate. "War Without Winners" will be shown at 11 a.m. on Thursday, Sept. 24, in the Demonstration Room of the Student Union. All are invited to join in an effort to protect the environment and the world's peace. Come ready to dance in the 15th Annual Art Show under the guidance of the Creative Dance Group. The show is open to persons in all ages and levels of experience. The evening is set for the dawn of the year, clear your schedule! \n
Students who participated this summer in the Creative Dance Group are urged to contact their professors soon concerning a special project with the college community, men, women, students, and faculty. The group works cooperatively on dances and their presentations. Rehearsals are held regularly on Mondays. The faculty advisor is Cora A. Miller of the Communication and Theater.\n
In addition to his association with the Clarence Kennedy Gallery, Smith also contributed his work to the New York Public Library's exhibition "The Photograph," which was organized by curator Eugene V. Smith. The exhibition featured his photographs of World War II, including images of the atomic bomb test at Tinian Island and the Japanese surrender at Yokohama. Smith's work was chosen for inclusion based on its artistic merit, as well as for its historical and cultural significance. The exhibition opened on June 25, 1951, and ran through September 30, 1951. The New York Times praised the exhibition, writing that it was "a moving and impressive display of photography that is one of the highlights of the summer season."

enty young men dressed in traditional garb have been sprinting, swimming and root for Bridgewater's way across the practice fields some of the finest Water Polo teams it faced last year. The club will begin its quest for the second straight New England championship this Saturday when it hosts the Dartmouth Big Green and the University of Rhode Island at 3:00 p.m. at the Aquatic Center. Does it pay off? The Bears have always managed to perform better than their expected rankings has plagued the squad for the past few years. Co-captains Todd Scribner and Tim LeBlanc have helped to iron out those kinks.

The Bears have always maintained a rock-hard defense allowed less than a point a game last year. The backfield will again be menacing as veterans George McCarron (5'10", 190), Dave LaPorte (6'1", 210) and Barry McCarron (5'11", 210) possess the strength and speed needed to shut down opposing teams' running games. The kicking game has a tough road ahead as Nick Chill (204) and Dave Hickey have graduated along with placekicker Mike Gagnon. Nick Chill has looked good in practice.

On the Roads Again

Welcome back once again to The Comment! It has been a while since our last edition. This week, we'll be talking about the annual Mass. Internship program and its benefits.

Mass Internship

The Internship Office of the Massachusetts Internship Commission is accepting applications for summer internships. The internship program provides students with the opportunity to gain real-world experience in a variety of fields. Internships are available in areas such as government, law, business, and non-profit organizations.

The internship experience can provide valuable skills and networking opportunities. It can also help students decide on a career path or gain further insight into a field of interest. The Internship Office currently has over 1,000 internship listings available.

If you're interested in applying for an internship, visit the Internship Office's website to learn more about the program and find available listings.

Censure

The AAUP has released its 2023 Censure list. The list includes 13 institutions that have been found guilty of violating the AAUP's Principles of Academic Freedom and Tenure. The list includes universities such as Harvard, MIT, and Stanford.

The AAUP's Censure Committee is responsible for investigating allegations of violations of the Principles of Academic Freedom and Tenure. The committee's findings are based on a review of the institutional policies and practices, as well as the evidence presented in each case.

The AAUP's Censure list is a public record that serves as a warning to other institutions about the consequences of non-compliance with the Principles of Academic Freedom and Tenure.

Commentary

The Comment is a weekly publication that covers a variety of topics, including politics, culture, and local news. This week, we'll be discussing the importance of the internship program and the AAUP's Censure list.
