There’s plenty to do this weekend on campus, as administrators are invited to the S.U.P.C., starting Thursday night and running through the week with a Kickoff for the class of ’82. The big day starts early on Saturday morning with a 9:00 a.m. departure for a full-day hike up the White Mountain Trail. It’s a long hike, so be prepared. The hike will end with a picnic lunch at the top. Afterwards, there will be a guided tour of the surrounding area. The hike is open to all students, faculty, and staff. For more information, contact Phil Camillone at 860-999-3651.

On Sunday, the Student Union will hold a Dance Party starting at 4:00 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. The event will feature live music by a local band and dancing until late into the night. All students, faculty, and staff are welcome to attend. For more information, contact Suzy Pope at 860-999-3652.

The weekend will also include a 2-mile race through the campus. The race will start at 1:00 p.m. on Saturday and is open to all students, faculty, and staff. Awards will be given to the top three finishers in each category. For more information, contact Tim Gregg at 860-999-3653.

Finally, on Monday, the Student Union will hold an open house to celebrate the anniversary of the Student Union. The event will feature a open house tours of the Student Union, as well as refreshments and entertainment. For more information, contact Sandy Burke at 860-999-3654.

The Old Colony fires Comment Staffer After Critical Article

The old Colony has fired its Comment Staffer after a critical article about the school’s administration. The article was written by a former student, but it was published under the staff’s name. The school has taken action to prevent future publications of critical articles. For more information, contact Tim Gregg at 860-999-3653.

Cheering the Bears

The 1981 season for the Bears was a disappointing one. The team finished in last place in the conference. However, the team did manage to win a few games. For more information, contact Tim Gregg at 860-999-3653.

Dear Editor,

The Comment has come to my attention in. the last week that there are many gay students at Bridgewater State College. These students have not been involved in any student activities, nor is it clear how many of them exist on campus. I am writing this letter in an attempt to address this issue.

Dear Editor,

The Comment's article on the topic of gay students at Bridgewater State College has raised important issues regarding equality and inclusion. As a member of the college community, I believe it is crucial to address the concerns raised in this piece.

The Comment’s article highlights the need for greater representation and visibility of gay students on campus. It is evident that there is a lack of understanding and acceptance surrounding the gay community, which hinders their ability to fully participate in college life.

As a student of the college, I urge the administration to take active steps in promoting inclusivity and diversity. By creating a safe and supportive environment, we can foster a community that respects and celebrates all individuals.

I encourage all students to engage with each other and contribute to a welcoming atmosphere. Together, we can make a positive impact on the college community and create a more inclusive environment for all.

Thank you for considering this perspective.

Yours sincerely,
John Doe

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A GREAT PLACE TO BE A NURSE

Dear Editor,

The nursing program at Bridgewater State College is a fantastic opportunity for students interested in pursuing a career in nursing. The program offers a comprehensive curriculum that prepares students for success in the field.

As a graduate of the program, I can attest to the quality of education and the excellent faculty. The program provides a strong foundation in both theory and practice, ensuring graduates are well-prepared for their future careers.

I encourage all interested students to consider enrolling in the nursing program at Bridgewater State College. It is an excellent choice for anyone looking to make a positive impact on the lives of others.

Sincerely,
Jane Smith
Graduate of Bridgewater State College

DEPARTMENT OF COMPLAINTS

Dear Editor,

I would like to address an issue that has been bothering me for some time. As a member of the college community, I feel that the student government has not been acting in the best interests of the students.

The current administration lacks transparency and seems to be more concerned with maintaining power than serving the needs of the students. This has led to a growing sense of dissatisfaction among the student body.

I urge the student government to reconsider its actions and focus on issues that truly matter to the students. By doing so, we can create a more positive and inclusive environment for all.

Thank you for your attention.

Sincerely,
John Johnson

WHAT COULD THE ARMY POSSIBLY OFFER A BRIGHT PERSON LIKE YOU?

Deep your guard for a minute. Even though you’re in college right now, there are many avenues the Army that you might find very attractive. See for yourself.

MED SCHOOL, ON US
You read it right. The Army’s Health Professions Scholarship Program provides recipients with full tuition, fees, even microscope rental during medical school. Plus a monthly stipend that works out to about $6,000 a year.

The hitch? Very simple. After you graduate, commission in the Army Reserve for at least two years. Not a bad deal.

A GREAT PLACE TO BE A NURSE
The subtradition of Army Nursing is one of excellence, dedication, and honor. And it’s a challenge to live up to. Today, Army Nurse is the epitome of professionalism, regarded as a critical member of the Army Medical Team.

A B.A. degree is required. And the dress code? Almost impossible to match in civilian practice.

If you get your Master of Science degree, you can be an Army Nurse. You’ll enjoy more respect and authority than most of your civilian counterparts. You’ll also enjoy more pay and privileges.

YOU WERE BORN TO BE A NURSE
And now we have a special program to help you fund your Army Reserve around your school schedule.

It’s worth a look.

A SECOND CHANCE AT COLLEGE
Some may find college the right place at the wrong time for a variety of reasons. The Army can help you, too.

A new job in the Army can help them get funds to pursue their education. But any Civilian may become a real, practicing lawyer. Be an Army Lawyer.

ROTC SCHOLARSHIPS
Today, a young person can get a law degree and still have the option of being an Officer in the United States Army. A chance to travel and make the most of your education without having to serve in the Army.

You also get paid for your Reserve duty. It comes in effect, your own practice.

SCHOLARSHIPS TO MEDICAL SCHOOL
The Army Medical Team offers scholarships to medical students. Some may find college the right place at the wrong time for a variety of reasons. The Army can help you, too.

A new job in the Army can help them get funds to pursue their education. But any Civilian may become a real, practicing lawyer. Be an Army Lawyer.

The Screening Room

"What's next on the movie critic's hit list?" an aide asks. I'm not sure what he's talking about.

Several weeks ago, I wrote about the question arising on the minds of moviegoers: why are there so many bad movies being made? If you ask the movie critics, they will tell you that the problem is not the movies themselves, but the people who make them. They argue that the reason for this is the lack of quality control in the film industry.

However, if you look at the box office numbers, you will see that the public is not expressing the same concern. In fact, the public seems to be enjoying the bad movies despite their critical consensus.

The critics blame the problem on the lack of talent in the film industry. They argue that the directors and writers who make the bad movies are not adequately trained. However, this is not the case. The film industry is known for its training programs and the many opportunities for talented individuals to get into the business.

Instead, the critics blame the problem on the lack of money in the film industry. They argue that the studios are not investing enough in new projects. However, this is not the case either. The studios have been investing more money in new projects in recent years.

So what is the real problem? It seems to me that the real problem is the lack of interest in the film industry. The film industry is becoming more and more commercial, and this is making it harder for the good movies to get made.

It is my belief that the film industry should be more interested in making good movies, instead of just making movies that will make money. If the film industry focuses on making good movies, then the public will be interested in them, and the critics will be more positive about them.

The Polaroid Collection

The Polaroid Corporation is known for its instant cameras, but it also produces a variety of other products. One of these is the Polaroid Collection. The Polaroid Collection is a series of prints that are made using Polaroid's instant photography technology.

The prints are made using a special type of paper that is coated with chemicals. When the film is developed, the image is formed on the paper. The prints are then put in a frame and hung on a wall.

The Polaroid Collection is a great way to get a taste of the instant photography experience. The prints are always unique, and they are a great way to capture a moment in time.

MINI COURSES

There are a few class openings in the following mini-courses: Condominum, Pottery, Leather, Stone Sculpture, Collagraphy, and Black Patent Leather. If you are interested in any of these courses, please contact the Polaroid Store Manager to make arrangements.

The Clarence Kennedy Gallery will feature the photographic exhibition "Exploration of a Medium: The Polaroid Collection" October 20 through November 25, 1981. The exhibition, curated by Allan Porter, editor of CAMERA Magazine, presents a diversity of imaging styles and techniques by an international selection of artists. From Ansel Adams and Paul Caponigro to Lucas Samaras and Christian Vogt, "Exploration of a Medium" illustrates a technical and aesthetic history of the development of Polaroid instant photography. "Exploration of a Medium: The Polaroid Collection" includes black and white and color images on Polaroid Mini, Courante, SX-70, and Polab formats. The Polaroid International Collection--the heart of the exhibition--is a complete, self-contained unit that documents the history of Polaroid's encouragement of creative exploration of the instant medium," observes Porter. "The resulting collection is understandably diversified and, indisputably, original." The Polaroid International Collection is housed in Amsterdam. The Clarence Kennedy Gallery is located at 770 Main Street in Cambridge, Massachusetts. Gallery hours are: Tuesday through Saturday, 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Nothing can tempt a movie-goer more than a great acting combination. Robert De Niro and Robert Duvall are two of the hottest actors in Hollywood, and any box-office draws on their own. But, to combine them in the same movie as lead characters would make any movie, no matter how weak, worth seeing. “True Confessions”, however, has enough complexities of plot and structure to allow both Duvall and De Niro a wealth of material to exploit. Therefore, the two actors can only be icing on the cake.

Duvall and De Niro play the Spellacy brothers, two Irish Catholic men who have chosen their professions by their childhood characteristics. Tom (Duvall), the bad one, is a hard nosed LA. homicide detective. Desmond (DeNiro), the good boy has become an ambitious priest who is aiming at the cardinal’s post. The film begins at the end of their lives when Desmond is ready to die, and Tom has come to visit. Told in a flashback sequence, Tom reflects back to the incident which cost Desmond his position, and eventually led him to become a parish priest in a remote part of the desert. The difference between Tom and Desmond is eventually bringing them closer together.

Robert Barnett, the Director of Ensemble Theatre’s upcoming musical, Kiss Me Kate, is celebrating his 50th anniversary at BSC next week.

In an interview with the Holiday Doctor magazine, he has directed the cast of BSC’s Kate, with Call Me Madam, and Hello Dolly. He did music at BSC, too. It’s a big deal, which was also the first time that the profession ever attempted by a BSC cast. He chose Kiss Me Kate for this season because Cole Porter was “one of our best composers.” He commented that Porter’s style is “unforgettable, easy, and very melodic.” The musical will be played in the Atrium on October 18 and 19. The show will also be performed on October 20 at the Parish of the Nations. The musical is a hit with the audience, bringing in a steady flow of people and applause.

Bears Split Two In Battle Of The West

By Dave Czarnecki

The Bricktown State Bears football team completed two changes in its roster last week in the East Bowl's "What Was Most" final by splitting a couple of road matches with the Varsity Swim Team. Connecticut State B.S.C. was defeated by 29-10 in the first match, and then triumphed over New England's B.S.C. by 11-0 in the second. The Bears are now tied for first place with New England in the New England Division, and will be held at home for the New England Division championship on Saturday.

It was the deadly kicking of West Virginia that gave the Bears their first win, as the National Champion's kicking attempt on the first possession was blocked. The Bears then padded their lead with a 17-yard field goal by veteran coach Tom Flaherty. The Bears proved too strong for B.S.C. throughout the game, and scored twice in the second half to put the match away. The Bears' defense was led by senior linebacker Mike Hill, and junior cornerback Mike Long, who intercepted two passes. The Bears' offense was led by junior quarterback Mark Miller, who threw for 271 yards and three touchdowns.

In the second match, the Bears proved to be too strong for New England, as they scored five touchdowns and a field goal in the first half alone. The Bears' defense was led by senior linebacker Mike Hill, and junior cornerback Mike Long, who intercepted two passes. The Bears' offense was led by junior quarterback Mark Miller, who threw for 271 yards and three touchdowns.

The Bears will face the New England Division for the New England Division championship on Saturday.
