This is personal safety a factor but I think that a recent report of the Board of Trustees is promising. The program is aimed at developing financial awareness among the students. The program is expected to help students understand the importance of managing their finances effectively. It is being implemented in a phased manner, with the initial phase focusing on financial literacy and management tools. Students will be encouraged to develop good habits in managing their finances, which will be supported by the provision of financial counseling services. In addition, the program will provide workshops and seminars on various financial topics, such as budgeting, saving, and investing. It is expected that the program will help students make informed financial decisions and take control of their financial futures.
Three Cheers for the Comment...

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this time to recognize three students of the Plymouth College, who do not get the recognition that they deserve. These students arehotel Stahl, Nancy DuPont, and Margaret Flaherty. They have been very active in the Student Services Division, and have been instrumental in the success of the week-long Heritage Week.

In my opinion, hotel Stahl, Nancy DuPont, and Margaret Flaherty have been the driving force behind the week-long Heritage Week. They have worked tirelessly to ensure that the week was a success, and their efforts have not gone unnoticed. The week was a big success, and the students involved are to be commended for their hard work and dedication.

Sincerely,

Rick Veno
Three Cheers for The Comment...

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this time to congratulate you on the Pebble and the Comment for the fine work you have been doing for the past year. You take great pride in being recognized as a training program for future careers in radio and broadcasting. We have a staff of about 50 people all at work hard in providing the greater Bridgeport area with the finest quality programming possible. A special thanks goes to the news team for their hard work.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

...and Cheers for Charlie Brown

To the Editor:

Three cheers to the members of the ensemble for their great performance of "Charlie Brown." It was a very entertaining and enjoyable evening. Thank you for having this as a topic of your farewell to the office of Community Services.

Sincerely,

Letters To The Editor

Dear Fellow Students,

Soon you will be hearing a great deal about "Heron's Week." Last year, for the first time in our history, the Student Union started to look at a week-long series of events in the spring to recognize and celebrate the College year.

This year the emphasis is on Board of Governors and the Student Senate. The President's Office, which features two dozen alumni and other perpetual events, will be the focal point of the week-long series of events.

The key to the success of this year's Heron's Week is us, the student clubs, each of which has a unique function and a unique group of issues to which we can contribute.

This year we will be working on a whole series of events to show students the benefits of extracurricular activities.

There are several things you can do to get involved.

1. Attend the presentations that are scheduled for the week.
2. Participate in the activities that are planned.
3. Volunteer to help with the planning and execution of the activity.

We need your help to make Heron's Week a success.

Sincerely,

Press Official Speaks At BSC

By Breit Penzuil

William L. Patton Jr., Executive Vice President and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the BSC, discussed the future of the BSC and its Modern Equestrian Services and the role of communication students in the modern world. The lecture was held in the Student Center on Thursday, February 23 at 3 p.m.

The lecture was part of the Career Planning and Placement Office's speaker series, which aims to provide students with opportunities to hear from professionals in various fields. The BSC's Modern Equestrian Services is a department that provides students with the opportunity to learn about and participate in horseback riding and other equestrian activities.

Dr. Patton discussed the importance of communication in the modern world, emphasizing the role of technology and social media in shaping the way we communicate. He also highlighted the opportunities available to communication students at BSC, such as internships and job placements in the industry.

In his closing remarks, Dr. Patton encouraged students to take advantage of the resources available to them, including the Career Planning and Placement Office, the BSC's Modern Equestrian Services, and the BSC's many other academic and extracurricular programs.

The lecture was well-attended, with students from various majors and backgrounds in attendance. Dr. Patton's comments were praised for their relevance and insight, and students left the lecture with a greater understanding of the opportunities available to them in the communication field.

The Career Planning and Placement Office is committed to providing students with the resources and support they need to succeed in their academic and professional pursuits. The office offers a variety of services, including career counseling, job search assistance, and networking opportunities.

Students who are interested in more information about the Career Planning and Placement Office can visit their website or visit their office in the Student Center.

For more information, please contact Dr. Richard Warye at rwm@bcs.edu or call 697-1200.

B.S.C. Theatre Dept. Shrinking

Dear Mr. Garden:

I am enclosing a copy of an article from The Comment, discussing back about 25 years to March 1, 1979. I wonder if you might consider re-printing it in The Comment this week? If so, we might be interested in paying for the reprint.

Don't let us be too concerned, however, about the future of the theatre major at Bridgewater. The program is in good health and will survive. The administration is strongly behind the theatre program and there is a good deal of enthusiasm among theatre majors and faculty members as well.

Sincerely,

"Sincere congratulations to William D. Carson, Ph.D., the School Psychology Program student who, as December's Student of the Month in the Department of Psychology, received a grant from the SSA for funding a director of doctoral studies fellowship. This will enable him to focus on the development of a research program in the area of psychological trauma and its effects on children. The grant is a testament to William's dedication to his work and his potential to make significant contributions to the field of psychology."
You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown

By Barbara Glabon

"You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" is a musical adaptation of the comic strip created by Charles Schulz. It was presented Thursday and Friday to packed houses.

Elsie Sherwood (Lucy) has been viewed by this critic, and was presented Thursday and Friday through on just about every comic type imaginable. This was just one more triumph for the dependable character actor.

Robert Mello as Charlie Brown.

Phantom Diner Dreams

A man steps out of his white convertible Triumph and enters a dusty, ramshackle, parking attendant. The man is50 years old, wearing a great brown suit, carrying an umbrella. He looks at the bellman and asks, "Where's the nearest public toilet?"

"Oh, don't think the housekeeper wants me to go in there," says the bellman, "she's cordially invited to submit an original joke for Bridgewater's GAA, and will be held up her section of the magazine."

"No, it's not that. I'm afraid I don't have any money, but I want to go in there," says the man, "I want to go in there.""The Bellman grunts and says, "What's the joke?"

The man pauses, then says, "What's the joke?"

You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown

By Barbara Glouben

You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown is being performed in three of the RSC's playing halls: Tyrone, Ryley, and Copely. These are the national tour. The show is directed by Michael Arden. The cast includes several familiar faces from the original production, such as Jonathan Slavin as Linus, who is known for his gravelly voice and distinctive style. The show is filled with classic songs from the show, such as "You've Got to Be a Fink," "I Could Have Danced All Night," and "Good Golly Miss Molly." The audience is entertained by the cast's talented performances and the live orchestra. The show is a great way to spend an evening and a must-see for any fan of musical theatre.

Ingalls, Morgan and Valerie. The three students entered the exhibit Mood: which consists of the wide range of media: paintings, sculptures, prints, and graphs. A reception was held on February 13th to mark the opening of the latest art show at the Clement C. Maxwell Library. The mixed media show contains the work of three B.S.C. art majors: Karen D. Ingalls, Morgan and Valerie. The three students entered the exhibit Mood: which consists of the wide range of media: paintings, sculptures, prints, and graphs.

The exhibition, entitled "Moods," includes a variety of works from the three artists. It features paintings, sculptures, prints, and photographs on a range of themes, from love and relationships to more abstract concepts. The works are displayed in a thoughtful arrangement, allowing visitors to explore the different perspectives and styles of the artists.

The reception was well-attended, with guests enjoying refreshments and engaging with the artists and each other. The atmosphere was lively, with conversations carried on throughout the gallery space. Visitors were impressed by the diversity and quality of the work on display, with many expressing their appreciation for the creativity and skill embodied in the pieces.

The "Moods" exhibition offers a unique opportunity to explore the emotional landscape of the human experience through the eyes of these talented artists. It is a testament to the power of art to connect us and to inspire us to see the world in new ways. The Clement C. Maxwell Library is to be commended for presenting such an inclusive and thought-provoking display to the community.
Bears Business

By Mike Storey

The Bears have continued to show the rest of America how to play basketball. Everyone else says, "They're all good, but they haven't proven themselves," and the Bears seem to be getting more and more comfortable with themselves. The Bears are now (5-2) on the year. This past week...

The Bears have won five of their six games. But, despite their winning record, they are finding it tough to get at the top. "We have a young team and we need to keep playing hard," said Coach Byron.

The Bears' next game is on Saturday, February 10, when they face the University of New Hampshire. The game will be at 7:00 p.m. at the independents gymnasium. The Bears are currently at 14-5, while the Wildcats are at 13-6. This will be an important game for the Bears as they try to hold onto their lead in the New England Conference.

On Tuesday, the Bears will play at Norwich University. The game will start at 7:00 p.m. Norwich is currently at 5-14, and the Bears are at 13-5. This will be a tough game for the Bears, but they are confident in their chances of winning.

The Bears are looking forward to the rest of the season and are working hard to improve their game. "We are a young team and we need to keep working hard," said Coach Byron. "We have a bright future ahead of us."
