SGA Inducts 5 Members

By Kim Murphy

Well, it should be no surprise to anyone by now that the SGA meeting Tuesday night was a doozy. One of the highlights of an otherwise frustrating experience was the swearing in of the election winners: Nadine Lucas, John Baston, Ralph Fotea, Patricia Costa and Greg Galinsky.

Dean Caruso, who ran the elections, commented on the different election procedures used this time which resulted in an impressively low margin of error, .35% on the average. (We used different colored ballots that quickened the counting procedures. [Note: We displayed sample ballots. This was to allow student voters to see who was running. Since student elections usually generate a low turnout, Caruso was surprised to see so many votes cast."

The passing of the funding allocation will result in the reduction of student members from five to three on the All-College Committee so as to avoid any single member favoring the students. Of course, quite happy about winning, Lucas, who was formerly on the Rights and Preventons Committee, commented on network, the different student involvement, but they are considering giving the students an ultimatum, vote for the reduction or they will continue the governing process entirely. Students have had their hands tied in this issue. It should be understood that the referendum is dictated in the contract, with the students having no say in what they are voting on.

An effort should be made by the Legislature, the Governor, and the Board of Regents to take a more active role in policing such concerns to insure that the rights of the students and the area community are not infringed without the consent of the other active members of the committee, mainly without student input."

It seems as though the members of the faculty have totally disregarded the rights of the students in this issue. First there is an attempt to reduce the number of student representatives on the second committee. The second part is important at Bridgewater because we have the only student senators, Carrie Kline, in the entire State College system.

In Memory of...

By Nancy DuPont

This week the community of Bridgewater State College mourns the loss of one of its own. First Kathleen Welty, a teacher of economics here for four years, passed away on a flight back to Massachusetts on Thursday, March 2, after a four-year losing battle with cancer. Students and faculty alike express great sorrow upon learning of her death, and many, who knew her, described her as a courageous, exceptional person who will sadly be missed.

The College, which did not learn of Prof. Welty's illness until December, is proceeding by moving classes from her to the first floor. Furthermore, the students are finding her in a number of ways, including taking attendance out of her classes. Although it was obvious that she was very sick, she gallantly kept teaching until Washington's Birthday. A native of Dayton, she received her bachelor's degree from Framingham State College and in 1978 was awarded her master's and PhD degrees at Comer University. She first taught in the State College of Buffalo in New York, and later at Rutgers University in New Jersey, before joining the faculty at BSC.

"A World I Never Made"

On February 29, 1984, while attending a meeting of the Wesleyan University Student Senate, I had the honor of visiting Mr. James Baldwin in a relaxed, informal atmosphere and was, quite unexpectedly, allowed to have a discussion of his views on a variety of subjects, including politics, arms build-up and racism.

Comment: Mr. Baldwin, in your opinion, who are the best writers working today?"

Editor's View About The Shoe

There once was a newspaper editor whose name was Matt. He was a man of great integrity and truthfulness. He wanted the world to know the truth about The Shoe. Over the past few weeks, his editorials have been lambasting the governing body. His columns are written with passion and a deep desire to bring about change.

More specifically, Matt is criticizing the policies and actions of the governing body. He believes that they are not acting in the best interests of the students. He is calling for change and change is needed to improve the situation.

Matt's editorials have been met with mixed reactions. Some people applaud his efforts, while others are critical. Regardless of the reaction, Matt continues to write with a clear conscience.

The Shoe is a newspaper that is written and published by students. It is a platform for the voice of the student body. Matt's editorials are an important part of this platform.

Matt, you are doing a great job. Keep up the good work.

Yours truly,
Gregory Mathes

Doctoral Dissertations

Tony was born in South Boston, was a graduate of Arlington High School, and is now a student at Community College of Boston. His doctoral dissertation deserves a special mention. It is a remarkable work that makes a significant contribution to the field of education. Tony has spent years researching and writing on this topic, and it shows in the quality of his work. His dissertation is a model of thoroughness and precision. Everyone should read it.
Dear Editor,

I feel that it is imperative that the student body be informed of the terrible situation of Mehrdad Hajian. The student government has been forced to hold a special meeting of the S.G.A. on Monday, March 15th at 10:45 a.m. in the third floor of the Student Employment Reference Service located on the ground floor of Tillignton Hall (T).

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the more than 500 alumni and others who signed their names as rights here under voting in the recent S.G.A. elections, and particularly those who supported me as a candidate for Senator-At-Large.

I learned a great deal during the course of the election campaign and, although it is difficult to characterize the spirit of the entire S.G.A. in generalization, I think it is fair to say that the S.G.A. is a large part of the campus life and serves as a voice to the students. Personal views or values have no place in the S.G.A. Chances are you are a part of the S.G.A. community, so it is in your interest to attend an immigration and naturalization information session. This has been advertised in the campus newspaper and there will be two, and you will be divided into groups of ten. Vote turn-out that could be hoped for with a 10% per cent of the student population.

I do have one question for you as students. How big must the issue be to motivate you to vote for me on the S.G.A.?

In the coming weeks, as we continue to build on the foundations of student government, we must remain true to our own ideals and continue to build on those goals.

Sincerely,

Matthew Peter Donoghue
Class of 1960

Wanted: More Information

To the members of the college community:

We are writing to bring your attention to the critical situation of Mehrdad Hajian. Mehrdad is a freshman in this college and is a member of the S.G.A. He has been arrested by the INS and is currently being held in a federal prison because he failed to appear in court. His request for reinstatement of his immigration status has been denied.

The S.G.A. has been informed of Mehrdad's arrest and is working on his behalf. We are dedicated to ensuring that Mehrdad receives a fair and just treatment. The INS has a number of procedures that students can use to request reinstatement of their immigration status. These procedures are outlined in the Immigration and Naturalization Service publication titled "How to Request Reinstatement of Your Immigration Status." This publication is available at the S.G.A. office.

We urge students to contact the S.G.A. and to support Mehrdad in any way possible. We appreciate your help in this matter.

Sincerely,

Nancy J. M. Miller

MORE LETTERS

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the more than 500 students who read all of their rights as students by voting in the recent S.G.A. elections, and particularly those who supported the successful candidacy for Senator-at-Large.

I learned a great deal during the course of the campaign, one that although it was a great generalization mocked by members of the class, it was nonetheless greater, and two, it was definitely a win for the voter-turnout that could be hoped for as a result of the class's per cent of the student population.

dear Editor,

I feel that it is imperative that the student body be informed of the terribleness of some. The S.G.A. held a town hall meeting the other day for you all to discuss and vote on the issues that are important to you.

One of the issues brought up by the student body is the decision for a second year of D.C. students to be the voice of the students. Personal needs or vendetta's are no place in the S.G.A. Chamber. It is a time for all of the students to come together, organization, or the student body, as a whole, rests on the lines or lack of lines of one S.G.A. member for another.

Instead of acting as representatives of the students, some of the few S.G.A. members decided to turn the show into a ploy full of lies and manipulation. The magnitude of this behavior without excuse cannot be taken lightly.

Sincerely,

Matthew Peter Dolan
Class of 1986

To the members of the college community,

We are writing to bring to your attention the critical situation of Mardihat Hajian, a senior art student enrolled at Brandeis. During her visit last week, her parents reported that their daughter was wandered away from the campus.

The Brandeis University administration, and many other college officials who continue to contact the family, said they didn't think Hajian's situation would be restored.

We are working toward preventing the FBI from deporting Mardihat. If he were to return to his birthplace, he would most probably be conscripted into the army to the front lines of the revolution.

My name is Stephen. I would like to bring to your attention the situation that forced me to take the time to nominate me for the position of Vice-President of the senior class. 1984. This is due to the political pressures to which I have been subjected.

In conclusion, one of which I intend to use in order to emphasize the difference if I am to achieve the position, I will continue to fight for those I care for you -

Steve Arias

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my disagreement with the recent decision made by the S.G.A. to merge the Student Employment Reference Service with the Employment Center.

Every year when the Academy Award nominees are listed (don’t look like I should always check to see who’s on the list, too). One woman who always wins is Cher. She always has a new album out every year, and she always wears the perfect dress. This year, she won for Best Supporting Actress for her role in "Silkwood".

The other big winner is "Terms of Endearment". The movie has won Best Picture and Best Director for Mike Nichols. The movie has also won Best Actor for Jack Nicholson and Best Actress for Shirley MacLaine.

The Academy Awards are always a great night. It’s a chance for all of us to come together and celebrate the best in film. I can’t wait to see who wins this year!

Best regards,

MUSIC '84

By James Magnor

When I see Thomas Dolby, I think of a mad scientist working endlessly in the laboratory. Dolby's new album The Flat Earth is electronic music with human feeling. It is treated as a scientific project with plenty of scientific effects that strike like lasers. Side one opens with Disasters, a funny song that goes beyond electronics and into the imagination. The Flat Earth is a great grind song, is a selection of fiction delusion. I see the Earth looking forward to find an answer. Side two has two dance cuts, White City and Hyperspace, and two slow sleepers. Pilot. The Rain Forest is a remake of Scars Myself. This album, especially the first side, is a masterpiece. The lyrics, mixes, effects and instrument playing show signs of great improvement for Dolby, and searches for perfection. Froto Records is the home of a Texas band called La Dama. La Dama is a hollow record that lacks excitement. It is a rather boring band with a dead last singer who sounds ugly and dull. The back guitar sound on the LP is nothing new. Save your money. Translator is back with a new LP called No Time Like Now. I only heard the EP and I would definitely get the album. The drum, sax and guitar combinations is a certain feel that reminds us of the period we're going through. The extended version of Breakdown Barrels fluctuates in tone but remains vibrant. Cry for a Shadow weeps with a high guitar lead as it calling from the valley. The clear, clean and fast pace of Easer provides a jolt of teenage punk that is sure to get you moving. If you liked Translator before you'll like them again.

If you are in the market for a unique and different piece of vinyl be sure to pick up The Art Art Contemporary Music Sampler. Volume 1. It is a potpourri of Boston bands doing what comes natural. There are some good covers by The Fugitives, the 2 by 4's and The Pink Nagolls. Willouh "Loco" Alexander is also found on this Art Art record. It is a Boston sampler that should increase the demand for more projects just like it.

The Fat Boy International Band on Jumbo Beach Records sounds like a cami­val side show. This Boston band's album Outside Your Window is a great pop presentation. The band's sound is totally dominated and gives it a stage presence. The music is ragged and-co­hdes violently with the ears, it is a show music full of glitter that doesn't shine. For you "Deadheads" who haven't had enough, check out Ground Zero's new album Off the Wall on Broken Records. Jerry Garcia would be proud of the jazzy blues and piano rock that these guys deliver.

I did my student teaching last semester and I failed. I say that because I had a grade of F for the first quarter of the semester when we taught our class of kindergarteners. It had to be a disaster because of the difficulty of teaching young children, especially those who were already in trouble.

I was very unhappy with my performance. I guess it was really just my own fault because I didn't try hard enough. There were times when I thought about giving up, but I didn't. I decided to work even harder and try to improve my teaching skills.

Now that I've had some experience teaching, I think I'm better prepared for next year. I'm really looking forward to the challenge of working with young children again.

Catholic Center Conference

By Meg Snow

Leaders of Catholic campus ministry groups at Massachusetts colleges met last week at the Catholic Center to discuss their programs and the communities that they serve. Father Paul Hebert, Sister Jo-Anne Viellette, and Sister Mary Anne McCarthy and Sister Jeanne Marie Ofenloch participated. The Sisters of Mercy are the center's largest contributors. The center helps the students to understand that the campus is only one part of their personal life. They seek to help students become more interested in the community. The center offers a variety of activities, including Mass, study groups, concerts, and workshops. The center is also working to increase its outreach to the campus community. The center is serving more students than ever before, and it is growing in popularity. It is a great place to be a Catholic and a wonderful place to be with others. Lady Bears Bow Out

Sports Writers Wanted!

By Joe Gouveia

The women's basketball team went on to the Regional NCAA Tournament tour Sunday after falling to Eastern Conn­necticut, 64-63. Both teams shot 46% of their shots, but at the same time went further into post season play than anyone would have predicted.

At the end of the first half, B.C. was leading 32-29, and it was a very defensive half, according to coach John Nard. "I think we were really interested on defense, but it was just as hard as we could,"

This proved, as B.S.C. out rebounded E.C.C., 43-39. The lady Bears were 30% on the field. The second half was 10-6, and the lady Bears were leading the first half at the start. However, E.C.C. out competed B.C. in the second half 32-23. According to John Nard, B.C. played its best defensive game in the remaining 3 minutes, dominating the tempo.

It was a teamwork effort put out by the lady Bears. Individuals didn't stand out, but the team played as a whole.

O'Connell added, "I just wasn't able to shoot. We size difference just killed us. We did get it down, but just who had more experience. Baker supported on this, "Only five of us knew what to expect."

O'Connell was top scorer with 12 points, followed by Baker with 10 and Collicut with 9. With 11 minutes left in the second half, Baker fouled out. Many team members believe they could have won if not for this fact. Collicut was selected as the All Tournament team for her 42 points and 20 rebounds in the tournament.

Baker and guard John RUNDLE were also selected in the New England Division III Coach's All Star game on March 17th at Emmanuel College.

Congratulations to Bo RUNDLE and John RUNDLE for another outstanding season.

Last week before Breast has time! The women's basketball team is now being thrown instead of having to get things right and making plays. O'Neil, the record setter, going down to defeat against Eastern Connecticut, (54-44) and W.P.I. (75-71) in the tournament. The women's basketball team finished their season (22-9) with an outstanding year going (7-2), being second in ten events. Eight team records fell at the hands of the Bears, and all but one time on the deck in the NCAA's. Congratulations to Coach Veal and the team for a great year.

The men's gymnastics team had the opportunity to be held tomorrow at B.S.C. with Cindy Parlee (all around), Ellen Chevalier (vault), Gina Slane (bars), and Matt Anderson (floor) and Eleanor Fothering (bars).

The men's team trave­led to Springfield for in the Galilee Invitational (heats). They came away with their best effort ever against some tough competition and coming in 16th place.

Rich (160) and Brian (164) were selected as the NCAA nationals in the University of Arkansas. They have a lot of new blood on the squad including the coaching staff. Steve Collicot (O'Neil), Greg Cook (Greg Cook), and the men's coach, Richard Templeton (Rich Templeton). Their record is great the moment and the men have more talent than years in past years.
