Policy Revised

Changes in the "Judicial Procedures and All-College Policy" section of the Newcomer Digest, Handbook for new students, have been approved by the Board of Trustees at their last meeting and are now in effect. The changes accepted by a nine-member panel of students and administrators reflect broader changes in the role of the University's Judicial Board. The role of the panel has been expanded to include a broader range of disciplinary matters.

The most significant change in the "Judicial Board" section is the elimination of the "academic sanctions" category. Under the new policy, any student found guilty of violating college policy or rules will be referred to the appropriate disciplinary board, which will determine the appropriate sanctions.

The new procedures also address the issue of disciplinary sanctions for students found guilty of violating college policy or rules. The new procedures provide for a more formal and thorough review of the case and a more structured process for appealing the decision.

The new policies are more transparent and provide clearer guidelines for students and administrators, making the process more fair and equitable.

WHAT IT MEANS FOR BSC

It's Monday, January 21, and the heat at the Ham Hall Press Center is rising. Pulitzer Prize-winning author David McCullough has just told you, "Don't worry. I'll be there for the conference."

"I don't think," you replied, "that it's going to be that simple." McCullough nodded, "I understand."

"But," you went on, "what if it gets too hot?"

"Then," McCullough said, "we'll take a break."

"What about the conference?"

"The conference," McCullough replied, "will go on as planned." McCullough then turned and walked out of the room. "See you later," he called over his shoulder.

You turned to your computer and began typing. You knew you had to finish this article before the conference began.

The conference was a huge success. McCullough spoke about his latest book, "The Great Decisions," and answered questions from the audience.

The audience was enthusiastic, and they asked many interesting questions. McCullough was patient and answered all of them.

The conference ended at 5:00 PM, and you were able to finish the article. You sent it to the editor, and he was pleased with it.

The next day, you received an email from the editor. "Great job," he wrote. "The article was published in the next issue of the school newspaper."

The Bangles appeared at the Paradise Theater for a sold-out show on January 2nd, opening for them were the Primus Movers. For those of you who don't know the Bangles, they're a female group of four from Los Angeles who sound nothing like the rest of the few bands with a few you were asked to experience it in person, to perform original songs mostly from their last album, Destiny. at the Civic Center. They sold out in a few minutes. The Thursday night crowd was roaring for the secret of life of every song that ever meant something beyond the power of boards/ organ, and Ian Paice on drums. Stop Making Sense — This Talking Heads concept album is the most illuminating of Pop culture and the best of all good rock bands around. Throughout the film you constantly get a feel for the personalities of the band. All of them are quality musicians, and it's great to actually see them together. David, the lead singer, is as unusual as he really makes you laugh. If you love The Talking Heads, or just good music, I would highly recommend Stop Making Sense.

The River — The River is about a family's struggle to survive and overcome their overwhelming force which tries to separate them. The River. The only science that this family is destroying is our color and their power. In the end, they ended the band. My own feelings about the band's individual talents that the Civic Center canceled songs in their concert. A good album and a solid band. REVIEW/CONCERT: Bruce Springsteen

Bruce Springsteen — in concert at the Providence Civic Center — Thursday, March 31st.

The Bangles, Twisted Sister, and Iron Maiden were the featured attractions for the evening. The Bangles opened the show with a set of three songs from their recent album, “Reef”. Their performance was well received by the audience, who sang along enthusiastically.

Bruce Springsteen at the Civic Center

While other acts can impress their fans with melodic beauty, Bruce plays every note of every song that makes audiences lose their minds. Springsteen’s songs are often complex and filled with twists and turns that keep listeners engaged. In this particular performance, Springsteen was in top form, delivering a show that left fans with a lasting impression.

Vikki Peterson and Susan Baffs of the Bangles

The Bangles are a pop/rock band from the early 1980s who are known for their catchy melodies and harmonious vocals. They performed a set of songs from their album “Reef”, including hits like “If She Knew What She Wanted” and “All of a Sudden...(She Came Along)”. The audience was captivated by their energy and enthusiasm, and the band’s performance was met with a standing ovation.

Iron Maiden

Iron Maiden is one of the most well-known heavy metal bands of all time, known for their high-energy performances and powerful vocals. They were the final act of the evening, and their set included popular songs like “The Trooper” and “Run to the Hills”. The audience was in awe as they watched the band’s lead vocalist, Bruce Dickinson, perform with his signature headbanging style.

Springsteen’s return to music in 2012 was met with great excitement. On tour, he opened a light in Ernie Hudson’s horse and figure “ quitting his racing career in order to focus on the music and road.” He sang songs from his recent album, “Wrecking Ball”, which was released in 2012. His performance was captivating, with the crowd singing along to his classic hits.”

REVIEW/CONCERT: The Bangles, Twisted Sister, and Iron Maiden

They performed a set of their hit songs from their self-titled album, “The Bangles”. The show was well received, with the crowd singing along to their popular songs like “Manic Monday” and “If She Knew What She Wanted”.

Twisted Sister

Twisted Sister is an American heavy metal band formed in 1977. They are known for their wild stage shows and powerful anthems. They performed a set of their hit songs from their album “Stay Hungry”, including “I Am the Man” and “I Want Out”. The audience was in awe as they watched the band’s lead vocalist, Larry Storch, perform with his signature stage antics.

Destiny — Brought them together

By Dave Dooy Staff Writer

REVIEW/RECORD: Deep Purple — Perfect Strangers

Destiny, as described by Webster, is “a predetermination of what one is to become”. For the members of Deep Purple, their latest album, “Perfect Strangers”, is a testament to their ability to create something that transcends the boundaries of time.

Perfect Strangers are indeed a force to be reckoned with. In the past, their music has been responsible for captivating millions of listeners.

Although the band is made up of the band’s original members, it is however a gateway to their most popular line-up. After just a brief run-in with the magic that meets at the right moment and shape the future for them, they were indeed correct. For it has been almost twelve years since the band, with this line-up, has hit the charts with a single.

Perfect Strangers contains a mix of styles that make them a husky. The collective writing efforts of Ritchie Blackmore, Keith Moon, Roger Glover, B. J. Don’t miss your chance to see this legendary band live on tour!”

Stop Making Sense — This Talking Heads concert video is a must-see for fans of Bob Mould of R.E.M. The band, led by singer and multi-instrumentalist David Byrne, is in top form, delivering a performance that is both visually and musically captivating. The Talking Heads, if just good music, I would highly recommend this film.

The River — The River is about a family’s struggle to find their way in a world that is overwhelming. Their over-reach to find freedom from their past, and their ultimate failure, is what makes this band so great. The theme of this show was very similar to the theme of the band’s previous work, yet, as a whole, is a remarkable piece of work. It’s a must-see for all fans of this band. Together, the two acts provide a unique and entertaining experience that is sure to please both the casual and dedicated fans of the band.

YOU CAN'T SAY 'NO'!
Dear P.J.

I signed up for a course I thought I might enjoy. Now I find, however, that it is not anything like I expected. I would like to drop the course, but I am not sure it is before, could you explain the procedure to me? It is all sound very confusing. P.J. I don't want to do it in the first place.

Sincerely,
Confused Droppee.

Dear Confused,

The drop add process just got a whole lot more confusing. Does it not actually state that hard. Does it not sound more like a thread in a drop add slip, the college is to receive a printed sheet of paper which you have to fill out to excuse you from the purpose of the drop add form is to change your schedule for the upcoming week. It is not really a class. Temporary forms can be ordered through your major department office.

Before you fill out the form, randomly select one copy of the form, and send to the Office of the Registrar, and the last one back just in case. The important thing is to remember that all of the above is yours and you can write a copy of the form. The hole is made to drop the form and bring it to the registrar's office.

As an open letter to the Student Body of Bridgewater State College:

Recently, a student of Bridgewater State College was involved in a serious car accident. The cost of medical care and related expenses typically depletes the supply of blood available to the community. If this situation were to occur in our area, or if any major surgery was performed in the near future, the Red Cross would be hard-pressed to supply the necessary amount of blood to save lives.

The situation is no longer experimental. One of your fellow students is in dire need of your support.

You can help save his life, and many others, by participating in the Red Cross Bloodmobile on January 29 and 30 at Bridgewater State College. The hospital will be open on the campus for a few hours.

Please sign up to donate one small pint of blood. The donation is safe and does not endanger the donor.

Thank You.
