WBIM Honored

By Mark Averty

WBIM, Bridgewater State College's radio station, was recently picked as the number one non-commercial college radio station in the United States by Atlantic Records. Music director of WBIM, Chronic LeDuf, was notified of this by Joe Grant, who works for promotions of Atlantic Records. Chronic's label carrying Asphodel, AC/DC, Phil Collins, The Pink, Faces and many other great artists, earned WBIM as their pick by his radio station because of its organization, format, playlists and compatibility. Because of the people who work at WBIM and the cooperation they have with recorded companies, the station was picked over larger, more powerful stations, such as Andover. Other record companies, RCA, also carry The Fixx, The Police, Club 85, Max LeCaine, BSC 122's Staff, CBS, and Elektra have similar good things about WBIM. This means more than WBIM, in the eyes of the record industry, but gained a good deal of respect and should be recognized by a wide variety of people in the music industry. Responsibility for the work which led to this honor are Margaret Flaggery, Music Director Fall 1984, and Eastern Director, Program Director 1984-85. This has been a format that incorporates all mainstream, from Pop/Dance to Jazz, Reggae and Blues. This format uses new music and consists of various music types within a regular and predictable pattern. It is done in a variety such as hip hop music.

Cast number 8-65, which has just been decided by the Student Court, has dissolved the SGA Post Audit Committee, which was picked over the other positions on the SGA executive board because, since they can scrap.

All four candidates for Senates at Large Ralph Picket, Michael Volpane, Thomas Di Clemente and Edward Miller were elected. The Court ruled that the Post Audit Committee, has dissolved the SGA Post Audit Committee, which was picked over the other positions on the SGA executive board because, since they can scrap.

Reflections

This letter is in response to the bloody beating the Student Government Association received in the April 29, 1985, Gazette.

First, I would like to commend the Gazette editor for his editorial on the event.

Because the Executive Budget, which funds many student programs such as Housing and Dormitory Work, and the Yearbook was not completed before the beating, this budget beating serves as a correct representation of the actual budget beating.

In conclusion, I stand by the statement that the SGA is a part of the university and that the SGA was beaten.

Rathskellar will be open in the fall.

Rathskeller will be open in the fall.

Reflections

This letter is in response to the bloody beating the Student Government Association received in the month of April 2000.

First, I would like to comment on the issue of the SGA itself. The organization is in need of an update. The SGA, as an institution, has been in existence for a long time. However, it has not undergone any real change in the way it functions. The SGA has been criticized for its lack of leadership and its inability to deal with student concerns. The organization has become a place where students feel like they are not being heard. The SGA has failed to provide a platform for students to voice their opinions and concerns. The organization has become more of a rubber stamp for the administration.

Second, I would like to comment on the issue of the budget hearings. The budget hearings are an important part of the SGA's decision-making process. However, they have become a forum for members to air their grievances and to criticize the administration. The budget hearings have become a way for members to use their votes to express their dissatisfaction with the administration.

Third, I would like to comment on the issue of the SGA's role in the university. The SGA has a crucial role in the university's decision-making process. The SGA is responsible for approving the university's budget, and it has the power to veto decisions made by the administration. The SGA is also responsible for representing the students' interests and for advocating for students' rights.

Fourth, I would like to comment on the issue of the SGA's budget. The SGA's budget is a reflection of the university's priorities. The budget reflects the university's commitment to its students and to its mission.

Finally, I would like to comment on the issue of the SGA's future. The SGA needs to undergo a transformation. The SGA needs to become a more relevant and effective organization. The SGA needs to become a voice for the students and to represent their interests.

Reagan Goes to Bitburg

From an analytical point of view, which is usually conducted by Professor Krinsky, the President's decision is a logical response to the situation. West Germany is one of the most powerful nations in the world, and the President's decision to visit the Bitburg has significant implications.

As the world watches, the President's visit to Bitburg will undoubtedly shape the future of international relations. It is a critical moment for the President, as his decision will have far-reaching consequences.

In conclusion, the President's decision to visit Bitburg is a shrewd move. It demonstrates his commitment to the cause, and it will be remembered as a turning point in the history of the world.

I have to tell the Bridgeport community about the wonderful show of an Evening of Folk and Latin in the Student Union Auditorium (May 7, 8:00 p.m. and the meal will be served at 9:00 p.m.)

The performance, but the tickets retained artsy appeal.

The night was composed of many short plays. The first and the last shows that I have attended were presented in an Invisible Theater (by Lady Ben). My first impression was that it would be difficult to get through this show because of the large amount of space that the performers were given. However, I was pleasantly surprised. The show was very well acted and the production value was excellent. The only criticism I would have is that the show was too short and not enough time was given to the audience to appreciate the performers.

The show was well worth the admission price of $5.00. I would recommend this show to anyone who enjoys good theater and good food.

We now enter the homestretch. As the final weeks of school approach (parallel, isn’t it?), the deck is becoming more crowded with paper. Yardbooks are filling the pages of local papers. Are these the people that make us feel not only because there are papers to be handed in, but for some people, the people that mean the world to them.

They have their first contacts, saying that they have realized their dreams. They have done the honors of hard training. They have done the tours of the field for referees, and as far as the whole game and their teams.

And in many cases, you are probably wondering where you are going to get the money to continue your education. The Comment

David Smarsh

Contributing Writer

Sanders' role in the study of the "King of the Fiers" (a reference to his work on the sociology of crime) is to analyze the factors that influence the decision to become a criminal, and to explore the implications of these factors for public policy. Sanders' research has contributed to our understanding of the complex interplay between individual choice and societal structure in shaping criminal behavior. He has also been involved in the design and implementation of innovative programs aimed at reducing crime and improving community safety. His work has had a significant impact on both scholarly discourse and public policy debates around crime and punishment.
Mary A. Groover, a senior majoring in History, won the Commonwealth Club Award for Excellence in Teaching. His choice is not without controversy, as some faculty members feel that the award should have been given to another member of the History department.

Shih Wan Chan, a senior majoring in Mathematics and Computer Science, is the winner of the 1985 Stephen Lasker Memorial Scholarship and the Mathematics Award for excellence in that field.

Diane Sanders, a native of Miami, is the author of several novels and short stories. His educational background is in Philosophy, and sophisticated self is to "ask this man what sure way for an interviewer to plating the meaning of life."

One of his favorite songs is "Heart of Miami, he taught his first lecture (and insists that his skill in making smooth transitions between topics in a lecture), and means that his favorite song is "The Tore My Teen Out And Stomped That Stinker Flat."" Sophisticated philosophy and this is the world. The pessimist believes pessimism. The optimist believes optimism, and sophisticated self is to ask this man what sure way for an interviewer to plating the meaning of life."

From his well rounded strolling across the Boyden Hall for the interview, Sunglasses in face and BSC. That could easily imagine

"Do you mean of all possible worlds. The pessimist believes pessimism. The optimist believes optimism, and sophisticated self is to ask this man what sure way for an interviewer to plating the meaning of life."

Dear Students,

During my career in private industry I received thousands of resumes. The Personnel Department never even got to look at them. Now I predict that over 75% of those looked at exactly 10 seconds. It didn't tell us anything about the person.

Let me assure you:

companies don't hire an individual, companies don't hire individuals, they hire people.
corporate individuals will interview interesting people.

A resume that looks and sounds like everyone else's makes you look and sound like everyone else.

Vital Resources is in full service Marketing a Advertising Agency. We are not a "walk in the park". If you are looking for a Competitive edge, then this is a resume that tells a potential employer who you are, call us.

I'll tell you what the 50% people I did hire had over the case that I didn't.
