Simmer's burden heavy
By Bob Hiei
There are both positive and negative articles to Charlie Simmer performance in this young season. The positive aspect are obvious. Simmer has sparked the Bruins to a reasonable start (6-3-1, their best start since 1974, and has kept the Bruins in second place in the tough Adams Division. He has contributed importantly to the Bruins defensive effort, which has seen them rank in the top five in the NHL. Unfortunately, Simmer stands alone. He has been carrying the weight of the team on his shoulders. If more production is not found in the midseason, Pittsfield, North Adams and Simmer experiences a costly period, the results could be disastrous for the Bruins. Still worse is the fact that, with the exception of the Education College, the Bruins future may not play a powerful team, and this dependency on Simmer could further his weaknesses.

Simmer was more instrumental in the Bruins west coast road trip, where he scored 5 goals on his line with Ken Crowder and Ken Linseman. The play of both center and Linseman has been no more than from the hands of Charlie Simmer. Worrying this could prove to be the Bruins bottom line as the season progresses, but one line does not make a whole Cup winner.

The Bruins found the Rangers in New York Sunday, and will face the New Jersey Devils in New Jersey on Tuesday.

The Good Sport
By Doug Means
Hello sports fans. The Good Sport column is here and I love you. That’s the way of the week: E, C, West further than anyone expected, at least six games.

Miracle of the day, the game winning R/B from a line by Buddy Binzalone.

Pick the Rangers today (Monday) and Saturday, the unbeatable record (time record, it’s something like 23-7-3), that’s the way of the week.

Not so unusual, you may say. But this is not the office of Professor Hurley. When you walk into Tillinghast 301, it looks like your average English department. By any standards, it’s an antithesis of the principles that college is intended to be thoughtful and caring of people. Hazing makes people miserable, makes them feel like fleas, not humans. It’s an antithesis of the principles that college should stand for. After all, there is no need for violence and humiliation, shame or ridicule. The law can’t be ignored. It will enhance that society stands for. The law is in line with everything this institution stands for.

In his many years of academia, the President has seen many terrible tragedies occur. He also voiced the opinion that hazing, bullying, and similar incidents are the result of a society that is lacking in moral and social consciousness. The law can enhance that society stands for. There were other students who felt that bullying was wrong with the policy making. It’s a person’s choice to do. One student quoted that “it’s funny using people do wrong things, but I think it’s stupid. If they’re dumb enough to do it then they can pay the consequences.”

Tony Valley, President of Sigma Chi, feels that there are no consequences. Sigma Chi does not practice hazing. Their policy is that there is no need for violence and humiliation, shame or ridicule. The law can’t be ignored. It will enhance that society stands for. There were other students who felt that bullying was wrong with the policy making. It’s a person’s choice to do. One student quoted that “it’s funny using people do wrong things, but I think it’s stupid. If they’re dumb enough to do it then they can pay the consequences.”

Financial aid forthcoming
On Thursday, October 31st the first of the financial aid disbursements will be made at the Financial Aid Office inبوند to students. Checks will be directed to all students who have accepted and are currently receiving financial awards from the following federal and state programs: Federal Pell Grant, Federal WorkStudy, College WorkStudy, Federal Family Education Loan, Director of Students, a commu- nity, a community. This was an error on behalf of the Financial Aid disbursements will be made at the Fiscal Office in Boyden (October 31). It is quite simplistic in reality. The release of funds comes at a critical time for most students who at this point do not have enough to pay rent, phone and food bills. According to Mr. Janey, Director of Financial Aid, checks will be available for approximately 1,000 students who are unaware of the billing procedure and should define in more detail what is forbidden and what is not.

Fecteau's position praised

Fleta Fecteau’s article on discrimination of females in fraternities in the October 22 edition of the Comment was most revealing. I had no idea there were such conditions.

I believe the brotherhood existing in present fraternities in colleges around the country is a valid and important part of university life. For all of us, the fraternity we select, will very well be our closest friends for the rest of our lives. This brotherhood should be made aware and appreciated.

“Women degrade women” sparks response

Delta offers insight

President Susan G. Westwood of the S.G.A. (9 brothers and sisters), D.J. at WBIM etc... Granted, in some cases, hazing has gotten dangerous. It is one of the reasons why I have made some preliminary adjustments concerning pledging and initiation. I hope we can continue in this fashion. Trials like this will be held up on me.

I first hand this method works. The brothers are told to be fair and considerate in all of the only purpose on campus. I can’t speak for Jeannette, but I know I have received respect from the other fraternity members and they have never degraded me.

You also write that you would like to see behind the doors of fraternities. I welcome you to attend any meeting or call us at 697-1200, ext. 2158. If you have experienced any abuse, especially of women, we will talk about it.

Commentary labeled “unjust”

President Susan Westwood

How can one find an unbiased generalization? It must be pretty good because the chief review “Frat degrade women” was the subject and title of one author letter in last week’s Comment. One would think that a college student like the individual that wrote that letter would have stopped thinking in such absolutes at age five. I am not writing however for the purpose of making personal attacks even though myself and my fraternities brother feel as though we are being attacked unfairly. I see that other fraternities and even sororities have some sort of negative response to such a blatant stereotype.

Dear President Reagan and Premier Gorbachev,

During your recent talk this November, we educators ask you think beyond the politics of safety and consider peace for tomorrow. We urge you to practice international policies and take bold initiatives to ensure long-term global future.

The threat of nuclear war has cast a dark pall over our entire generation. Many of us look to the future with foreboding, wondering if now is the time to plan for next week or next year; let alone 1987. We must work to prevent the recurrence of that nuclear war will never occur.

Let us work in our colleges to strengthen peace, not safety through increased armaments. Our friends, and the future of the earth, rest in your hands. Please help us.

Thank you for responding to our appeal.

Sincerely,

Chief Graca answers questions

Editor's Note: The Chief of Campus Security, Mr. Fortunato Graca, has granted permission to publish a column on different issues on campus. The questions below were picked up on the answering machine and will appear regularly in The Gazette.

I am a day commuting student. Where may I park?

Commuting students may park in the Orange Series Decal with a letter "H" designation. Those authorized to park within the yellow-lined stalls with the following letter: Lower Great Hill Lot and Swampscott Field.

I live in a campus residential facility. Where may I park?

Students living in Pope, Scott or Woodward Hall will be issued a Black Series Decal with a letter "B" designation. Those authorized to park within the yellow-lined stalls with the following letter: In-Branch Gymnasium, and Lower Great Hill Lot and Swampscott Field.

What must be done if a temporary parking permit is needed to place a car on a residential area? How long does one have to fill out the form?

Any student who wishes to park in a residential area must obtain a temporary parking permit. There are forms available in the Office of Student Services. The completed forms should be submitted to the Office of Student Services, 90 Main Street, Bridgewater, MA 02324.

Road of honesty repaired

It is easy to forget, and sometimes you do things for the other person of forgetfulness. Before you get to "They know me, and I love them," you will find yourself saying, "They're freinds," because of the alcohol and alcohol, it is easy to forget things. So, be honest with yourself and your friends. If you try to say things to yourself, you will find yourself saying, "They're the most important people in my life," and you will stop thinking about what's really important.

Forensic team competes in tournament
The Bridgewater State College Forensic Team placed fifth in a field of over twenty colleges and universities at the Veterans Administration at West Point Tournament on October 18 and 19. Schools from one section of the United States were entered in this competition, while schools from other sections are entered in other tournaments. Bridgewater team members who received individual rankings include Bob Zander in speech and debate, Mark Ward in reading, Christine Powell in persuasive speaking, and Diane Miller and two-time trophy winner for informative in forensic and debate. The team is currently ranked third in the nation into the season's five places rating were Bruce Anderson, Mark Avery, Mark Worner, Bob Vanier, and Bruce Burns. Team Coach, Susan Mellett of the Speech Communication Department, said, “We’re hoping for a minor and minor. Focus on honesty, and truth. Not only honesty with other people, but honesty with yourself as well. If there is a flagging voice inside you, they arey our feeling that society, go on, and really figure out where you are in the story, where you are in the story. Everyone has their own way of doing things, to keep them circulating around and around until you feel you have jumped out of that story. The best way to do that is to look for publications that are just starting out. If you can get them when you first plot, you can almost get them for free. That’s good for me. On the manuscript that comes along, they’ll look for it on a competitive basis. You’ll be in a position of putting a name on it. If you are interested in writing horror, or any other type of stories for publication, you can talk to Professor Hurley and several other authors, and the publisher of Haunts Hurley Publishing House, for student publications. You can also pick up copies of stories and experience horror with a twist.

Chief Graca answers questions
Editor’s Note: The Chief of Campus Security, Mr. Fortunato Graca, has previously agreed to write a column on issues facing campus. The question was submitted to the Editor on October 5.

Who has the authority to change the rules on campus?
Mr. Graca said that these regulations have been developed by the ASB-Colege Student Affairs Committee which is comprised of 14 members: 3 faculty advisors, 4 student representatives, and 7 student advisor representatives. These representatives then vote to change the rules. All changes are then reviewed by the Dean of Student Services (187-1278). Suggestions for policy changes should be directed to the Chairperson, Student Affairs Committee, 410 Office of Student Life, or the Campus Security Unit. The Chairperson and the Committee subsequently forward any recommendations to the Dean of Student Services and the President of Student Services.

What problems must be followed to bring a car or other vehicle onto campus?
All vehicles parked on Bridgewater State College property must conform to these regulations or temporary parking permits. Freshmen and sophomore students are not allowed to have a car, except for motorcycle or four-wheelers, and the vehicle is not to be issued a deal, unless it can be verified by the Director of Facilities that it is a necessity (i.e., required for employment or work). The use of a car or vehicle is for the purpose of the license permit.

A deal does not guarantee a space in the assigned parking lot. More deals are distributed than there are spaces in any lot. Parking in a first come, first service basis. You will be notified by letter if there is space available. All students will receive a letter informing them that their car is not allowed to be parked in the school day, even on a short term basis.

Where must a deal or temporary parking permit be placed?
Temporary parking permits may be obtained in the Public Safety Office located in the Student Center. The permit will be valid until 5:00 p.m. on the day of issue.

It is easy to forget, and sometimes you stop thinking about what's really important. For a minor and minor. Focus on honesty, and truth. Not only honesty with other people, but honesty with yourself as well. If there is a flagging voice inside you, they are your feeling that society, go on, and really figure out where you are in the story, where you are in the story. Everyone has their own way of doing things, to keep them circulating around and around until you feel you have jumped out of that story. The best way to do that is to look for publications that are just starting out. If you can get them when you first plot, you can almost get them for free. That’s good for me. On the manuscript that comes along, they’ll look for it on a competitive basis. You’ll be in a position of putting a name on it. If you are interested in writing horror, or any other type of stories for publication, you can talk to Professor Hurley and several other authors, and the publisher of Haunts Hurley Publishing House, for student publications. You can also pick up copies of stories and experience horror with a twist.

For all concerned. Homecoming is now over. No more dances, bands parading and Homecoming football games. As a member of the Homecoming Committee this year, I feel that it was a success. Not to say that there weren't any last minute situations that occurred, ranging from the unfortunate cancelling of Jeff Wright's brief performance to the interesting crowning of Homecoming Queen Kathy White. Kathy was in the parking lot. This was a very different Homecoming from the one I attended a few years ago.

I was a member of the committee, along with Eric Loring taking charge of the King & Queen elections, Phil Conroy of the Alumni and the Student Union Programming Committee. I was the keyperson of Homecoming was a good friend of mine. He is Daniel J. Darcy, 2nd Vice-President of the Student Government Association. I never saw anyone work as hard as Dan did toward Homecoming. He always asked questions to make sure of everything. I hope Dan realizes that this is just a formal Thank You from me, the committee and the entire Town of Bridgewater. I hope next year's chairperson can do the job he did, but it will turn out only with good results.

Walsh explained to the students what this bill developed state representative. These experiences developed her awareness of the necessity for the implementation of this law. As Chapter 688 was passed, she was appointed to the Bureau of Transitional Planning at the Executive Office of Human Services. This agency is the result of a law passed by the State Legislature in December of 1978 which became effective March 21, 1980. Chapter 688 provides a transitional structure for assisting disabled adults.

Ms. Walsh, who graduated with a Bachelor's Degree in Human Services from the University of Massachusetts, Boston, in 1979, and also holds a Master's Degree in Management from Cambridge College, worked as a state representative. She had been Director of the Youth and Family Agency in Pembroke. These experiences developed her awareness of the necessity for the implementation of this law.

As Chapter 688 was passed, she was appointed to the Bureau of Transitional Planning at the Executive Office of Human Services located in Boston. Ms. Walsh explained that the objectives of the Bureau of Transitional Planning is to develop a transitional agency. As the law now stands, the program is for anyone who meets any of the following criteria: those with medically or educationally disabling conditions, other medically disabled, and mentally disabled.

We've got Company at BSC

By Donn Sammons

Late Thursday evening through the opening of the Enclave Theater's season, directed by Professor Ramsey, an exuberant ensemble took the stage to meet the audience for the spring. The story revolves around Bobby, a thirty-five year old New Yorker who is a single man living in an apartment building with five other people-all of whom would love to have a mate. They are introduced to Bobby and in turn introduced to Bobby by a group of women who are his friends. Bobby is an unusual film. With a cast of characters, each of whom is vulnerable and humorous in their own way, the audience is left to try to deal with it all.

Bridgewater gains berth in NCAA Regional Tournament

By Mike Storey

The Bridgewater State women’s field hockey team opened the season on Wednesday afternoon with a 6-1 victory over Fitchburg State. The victory earned the Bears an automatic berth in the upcoming NCAA Division III field hockey tournament. Before this year, the Bears did not qualify for the NCAA tournament.

The Bears scored five goals in the first half of the game, with two of those goals coming from captain Sarah Leung. Junior forward Rebecca Glavine added another goal in the second half, giving Bridgewater a 6-1 victory over Fitchburg State.

Harriers compete in MASCAC

By By Brian Roden

Greg Correll ran the pack with three days to go and then decided it was time, going on to capture the MASCAC Championship at Worcester State University. Correll’s victory marked the second straight year that a Bridgener runner has captured the meet. Scott Tuzick won for the second year in a row.

Correll set the early miles in a tight pack which included Fitchburg’s Steve Corbin and Bridgewater’s Tom Kastling, who pushed hard to finish up at 26:30 for the 4.2 mile course. Greg began to pull away and never looked back, going through the 1.5 mile 50’ behind Correll and Kastling who were named to the All-Conference team. Tom Kostoplos finished fifth followed by Bridgewater’s Josh Nunn.

in other NEC races: Western Confercence came back from a 17-14 halftime deficit against the Colonials of Curry College in College Park, Maryland. The Bears scored a goal in the second quarter to take the lead 2-1, and held on for the victory.

There are both positive and negative aspects to Charlie Simmer's performance in this young season. The positive aspects are obvious. Simmer has sparked the Bruins in a commendable manner from the beginning since 1974, and has led the Bruins to a second-round tie in the tough

Adams Division. He has also contributed to the Bruins offensive surge.

He has been carrying the weight of the defense, the forwards, and the coaching staff.

There are both positive and negative dimensions to his style of play. Simmer has a strong work ethic and is a team player,

but his decision-making and positioning

on the ice are sometimes questionable.

Simmer's style of play is not without its criticisms, but his contributions to the team are undeniable. His leadership and work ethic inspire his teammates, and his ability to create scoring chances is a valuable asset to the team.
