Editorial

SGA has chance for new beginning

A truly new semester is upon us. For reasons unknown, last semester seemed to be extremely difficult for many people, the student leaders of Bridgewater State included. Now it is time for all of us to start over.

The Student Government Association should take heed of this message. There have been several resignations, including the President, Vice President, Attorney General, and Speaker of the House. Twenty-nine percent of our SGA are not returning to Council Chambers.

The S.G.A.’s past last semester fell far short of its potential. They were testing their new Constitution and their new two-house system. Although the number of people participating in student government increased, they seemed bogged down in their own bureaucracy.

The S.G.A. was not totally inessential. Homecoming Weekend went well. The Town and College Relations Committee seemed to be off to a good start (the committee is now defunct). And the budget hearings, held last December during a joint session of the House and Senate, went smoother than any in recent history.

But the two-house system just did not work. While setting up a committee to study the funding of walking security, a female student was arrested on campus, something the Office of Student Services began it again on their own. When it was announced that free beer was being made available, our representatives were silent. (Another organization met last week to consider setting up a committee to study the funding of walking security.)

The two-house system might work in a school of 20,000 people, but here at Bridgewater, with less than 20,000, two bodies is simply too much bureaucracy.

The two houses have recently combined to form the General Assembly. They seem to have realized their mistakes, and are ready to rectify the problem. The new officers, upon election, should rewrite the Constitution, drawing the better points from both the old and the new. This should also set specific goals for themselves and for the school.

We should be done with the umnith haste, so they can move on to do what they were elected to do: represent the students and fight for our rights.

Alcatrazz, Rough Cutt and Metal Church at the Channel

Heavy metal heaven at the Channel

Bob Lang

A triple bill of the groups Alcatrazz, Rough Cutt and Metal Church promises heavy metal heaven for the legions of hard rock fans who frequent the Channel club in Boston. Alcatrazz, Rough Cutt and Metal Church are all bands that have broken through, been the subject of much hype and have achieved success in the heavy metal scene.

Alcatrazz, a group that has been receiving a lot of attention recently, is based in Southern California. The band's lead vocalist, David Coverdale, was formerly the lead vocalist for Deep Purple. Alcatrazz's debut album, "The Floral Dance," was released in 1974 and has since become a classic in the heavy metal genre.

Rough Cutt is a band that has been around for several years and has built a strong following in the United States and abroad. The band has been praised for its high energy shows and its ability to keep the audience on their feet throughout the entire performance.

Metal Church, a band that has been active since the late 1970s, is known for its powerful sound and its energetic live shows. The band's lead vocalist, Steve Harris, is a well-known figure in the heavy metal scene and has been active in the music industry for many years.

The show will be held at the Channel club in Boston on [insert date], and all three bands will be performing in full force.

It's a good month for Until December

By David Spuria

A new band from San Francisco, Until December, has signed with Innovative Artists, and we hope this will be the start of a long and successful career for the band. Until December is a band that has been gaining popularity in the San Francisco area and has been receiving positive reviews for their live shows.

The band's sound is a blend of hard rock and heavy metal, and they have been compared to bands like Black Sabbath and Judas Priest. Until December is a band that is definitely worth checking out, and we look forward to seeing what they will bring to the Boston music scene in the future.

Swimming teams return to action both end first week still looking for first victory

The BSC men's and women's swimming teams returned to action last weekend at UMass-Boston in the Northeast Conference. Both teams suffered defeats, dropping their records to 0-2-0 this season by losing to 1:20-30 and 1-63 in the dual meet.

The men's team sailed key performances from last semester, but having 13 swimmers to the event, the team was already in the lead. Several newcomers have joined the team and are competing for the first time.

The women's team is led by two freshman, one from Montana and another from Idaho, both of whom have been very successful in their first meets. They have improved their times and have already broken several records.
