28-0 victory for Football team

Bears score 4 touchdowns against Fitchburg State

By Paul Courterey

The Comment

All the yelling, screaming and handshaking in the world wasn't enough to bring down the Fitchburg State Falcons from our own hometown. The Bears bumbled the Falcons off the field 28-0 in this past Saturday after making adjustments to the game plan.

The first touchdown came in the second quarter. Lead changed hands when the Bears scored a touchdown on a 57 yard pass from Scott Gregory to Jeff Leonard. The Falcons responded less than a minute later when Mark Sultman scored their first touchdown of the day by leaping through the Bears defense.

The Falcons were making desperate attempts to score by throwing long passes. The Bears achieved success. Last in the fourth quarter, the Falcons quarterback threw a two-man who was wide open, near the one yard line. The minute, however, dropped the ball. After a Falcons fumble the ball was recovered by the Bears.

With this victory the Bears record is now 5-0. Since the game was over at 2:30 the Tuesday the game will face St. Michael. October 15th Fitchburg State comes to town for the Homecoming game at 1:00.

Men's Rugby defeats Framingham 20-4

By Angela Comacho

The Bridgewater State Male's Rugby was ranked their game series as they recently defeated Framingham College 20-4.

Some quick passing by the Violent backs set the pace for Saturday's rugby game.

Co-Captains Chris Murphy and Gary Palterio continued to get the ball down to Framingham territory in the first minutes of the game. Next from scrum-half as the five man scrum, all won by the Violent, set up the opening try scored by Rich Doherty for three points.

Shortly after that a Violent line out was successfully caught by BSC and worked and fielded by the backs. Although the Violent back line had a few points to their name the Violent was still on the defensive for almost the entire game.

"The opening try was set up by a scrum-half in the Violent's defensive backfield," Stu Barrett.

The game ended with the Violent 20-4 to the Violent's lead of 14-0.

In the last minutes of the game Marc Mitchell powered forward to the try line and scored the second try of the afternoon by stepping through the Violent defense.

The Violent backs were making desperate attempts to score by throwing long passes. The Violent were successful. Last in the fourth quarter, the Violent quarterback threw a two-man who was wide open, near the one yard line. The minute, however, dropped the ball. After a Violent fumble the ball was recovered by the Violent.

Waterpolo team in first place:
Beats Bates College and ties Colby College

This past weekend the Bridgewater State Water Polo Club heated up to 5-0 in its first match in the New England College Water Polo Conference.

The meet occurred at Bates College in Lewiston Maine to compete against the last year's top two finishing clubs of the NEACWPC, Championship Tournament, Bates and Colby.

The first game faced Bates against Colby, one of the toughest teams in the conference. In most BSC players switched to be the twenty officiated game of the season, the Bears held that even over controversial calls.

Perhaps the most controversial calls were when goalender Jamie Goodwin was called out on a penalty. This left BSC with no experienced goalie in the game. Apparently a goal was scored.

"We've never heard of such a thing," said a disgruntled Goodwin after the game. "I've been at waterpolo for nearly a generation and in every other sport, we also have two or three players usually out for the goal.".

In the now, however, the game was 4-4 and both sides agreed on the quality, lack of quality, of the refereeing. The BSC defense of Scott Goodrich, Matt Kilian, Mike Pierson, and Jerjis Good rich as well as the defenders of Ben Bagley, Donavyn Avram, Tao Meekor, and Karl McNamee showed no lack of quality.

The second game matched up BSC and Bates, last year's tournament winners. Anyone who saw the game knows that they will not repeat. The Bears cruised them. Eight points from the opening two-sided Batchman, consistent, and equally played Bates. The official was the opening two-sided Batchman score, and the teams were out of the pool.

Other players who saw action and performed in the BSC match were Shadow Lonzo, Dennis Murphy, Kathy Sgout, DeSlo Fidisetinlita and Folio Kibble.

New dorms are right on schedule

Three hundred twenty-nine new residents

By David Parry

After having been commented on in the massachusetts Cranberry College Building Authority (MSCBA) has come a long time to its fruition. The construction of the new dormitory building at the lower end of the Great Hill. According to the Director of Housing, Mike Dolley, the progress is going so well, the new dorm building is safely scheduled to be completed by next August.

The building itself will be four stories high, with the first floor containing a combination of suite rooms, recreational areas, and a general public area. The housing authority will also be moving into the new building.

On the outside, a combination of grass and trees, along with one, are planned on.

Bridgewater to go 'cold turkey'

By Bryan Hayes

The week of October 16th through 21st is the time to kill the enemy. This week is National Alcohol Awareness, and students in both residence halls and the general public are being given the opportunity to explore the topic of alcohol awareness.

This is the year that the College will sponsor alcohol awareness week. According to the College Alcohol Awareness Week, the theme this year is, "CRCIS (College, Residence Halls and Student Organizations) will sponsor an event in each residence hall to focus on the issue of alcohol awareness." As a result of this week, students will be encouraged to think about the issue of alcohol awareness and how it affects their daily lives.

Yearbooks delayed until November

By William Staff

Editor Pettit looks forward to his fourth term

The 1988-1987 yearbooks have not yet been published and the yearbook office is working on this project. It has been a very difficult year for the yearbook office, as they have encountered several problems throughout the year. The yearbook office has been faced with many challenges, including staffing issues, budget constraints, and the need to find new printing facilities. Despite these challenges, the yearbook staff has been working hard to produce a quality product.

The yearbook office has been working on this project for several months, and they expect to have the yearbook completed by November. The yearbook will be available for purchase at the school, and it is expected to be sold out quickly. The yearbook office is very excited about the upcoming year and looks forward to a successful year.

Voter Registration

On Tuesday, October 4, and Wednesday, October 5, a voter registration drive was held to allow Bridgewater students to be able to vote in the November Presidential Election.

According to Paula Ellis, the representative of the Student Court, concerning Fox's responsibility as the Superintendent of the Burrill Avenue Building and the subject of this protest was Dr. Fox is an instructor of school teaching at the college, part-time. David Wilson of the New England Education Program. The teachers feel that it is Fox's responsibility as the superintendent to see to their needs, which they feel included a nice in salary. As required by state law, the Campus Police were on the scene to ensure a peaceful demonstration.

When asked to comment about the teacher's demonstration, David Wilson of the Office of Public Affairs said, "I feel that the teachers did their best to enhance Fox and to show their displeasure with him teaching at Bridgewater."

Landberger Files Complaint

Congressman Curtis Landberger has officially submitted a complaint to the Student Court, concerning the former Student Government Association's Treasurer, Sharon Cignetti. The complaint, which was turned in earlier this week, stated that Landberger requested an investigation of Cignetti's actions while holding the treasurer's position. He believed that she "abused the privileges and responsibilities of her office through bias against certain Recognized Student Organizations (RSO's)." He later said that this involved Cignetti's alleged delaying of checks to clubs. The investigation of the former student government's financial affairs has been turned over to the college's accounting department.

There has not been a date set to determine when and if the Student Court will hear this case.

SGA Announces Dates for Elections

Election Director Tobi Krasnow has announced dates for the Student Government's elections, in which candidates will run to determine who will gain Congressional and other positions. These dates will be Wednesday, October 12 and Thursday, October 13. Students will be able to register for the elections at the polls which will be located in front of the bookstore. The polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. each day.

Campus Security Questionnaire Form

Some concerned students and College Administrators have been working to refine the flexibility of a Campus Security Assistance Program. Below are some questions that the group wanted to get more information about before developing the final proposal for a program. We would appreciate it if you would take the time to fill out this survey below and return it to the Office of Student Services, the Campus Center.

Please circle the appropriate answer(s):

1. Is there a need for a student security assistance Program?
   A. Yes
   B. No

2. Would you use the Walking Security Escort Service if it was made available to you?
   A. Yes
   B. No

3. If so, what would the program consist of?
   A. A walking security program as a visible deterrent.
   B. An escort program from location to location on the campus.
   C. A combination of both.

4. Which area would be best for the program to operate?
   A. On the campus on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday.
   B. On the campus on Monday through Thursday.
   C. On the campus on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday.

5. What area would be best for the program to operate?
   A. 6 p.m. to 11 p.m.
   B. 7 p.m. to 1 a.m.
   C. 8 p.m. to 3 a.m.
   D. 12 a.m. to 2 a.m.

6. If it were possible, would you support SGA funding the Bay Campus Transit System on Security assistance?
   A. Yes
   B. No

7. If you have any further concerns, suggestions, please write them down.

Please return this survey to the designated locations by Wednesday, October 12, at 12:00 noon.

New dorms are right on schedule

New dorms are right on schedule

Pittsfield State University has announced that construction on the new dorms will begin within the next month. The new dorms, known as "the pits," are being built as part of a larger expansion project. The new dorms will accommodate an additional 400 students, bringing the total capacity of the university to 1,400. The new dorms are expected to be completed by the fall of 1989, providing additional housing for Pittsfield State University students.

Yearbooks delayed until November

Pittsfield State University has announced that the production of the 1989-1990 yearbook will be delayed until November due to financial constraints. The university is facing a budget shortfall, and the cost of producing the yearbook has become too expensive. The university is exploring alternative funding options, including partnerships with local businesses and community organizations.

Hanover Protest spills over on Burull

By Joe Shiman

Last Tuesday, at 4:00, students from Hanover dorms3 struck at the entrance to the Hanover Avenue Academic Building. The subject of this protest was Dr. Robert Fox, a part time professor at Bridgewater State College, whose classes meet in the Hanover Dormitory. An office near the Burull Public Safety Office. The teachers, who have been protested to work, were upset by the fact that Fox was teaching at BSC and not focusing his attention on teaching his students. The teachers' strike, which ended Tuesday, had been going on two weeks. Apparently, when it seemed that the teachers were gathering students with this strike, they found out that Fox was teaching at BSC. The Hanover faculty see Fox as an instructor of academic discipline and not as a faculty member.
The teachers feel that it is Fox's responsibility as the superintendent to see to their needs, which they feel include a professor for their courses.

Voter Registration

On Tuesday, October 4 and Wednesday, October 5, students will be able to register to vote in the November state elections.
According to Patricia Sills, the Person Register of BSC, students who did not register during this drive, but wish to vote, may register by contacting the Election Commission at 309. The event was sponsored by the MassPIRG and BSC. If your second year as an employee, it is hoped that this event will become an annual practice.

Congressman Curtis Landberger has officially submitted a complaint to the Student Court, concerning the former Student Government Association's Treasurer
Sharon Cipotto. The complaint, which was turned in earlier this week, states that Landberger requested an investigation of Cipotto's actions while holding the treasurer's position.
He believed that she had "abused the privileges and responsibilities of her office through theft against certain recognized Student Organizations (RSOs)." He later said that this involved Cipotto's alleged delays of checks to clubs, the misuse of money, and other violations.
Landberger claims that through this misuse and other actions, he does not believe that Cipotto is fit or qualified to hold a position on the SGA.

SGA Announces Dates for Elections

Election Director Todd Kraskow has announced dates for the Student Senate; in which candidates will run to determine who will gain Congressional and other positions. These dates will be Wednesday, October 12 and Thursday, October 13. Students will be able to vote by the poll, which will be located in the main office of the

How safe do you feel?

It's late--after 1:30 a.m. While walking around campus, you are beginning to dread the next, you notice a group of people walking towards you. How safe do you feel?

At the dorm, you notice a shawndored window and a broken glass bottle in the hallway. These are two questions which are of concern to the current residents of the State College. Many students have expressed their concerns regarding the safety issues on campus. This year, however, the numbers are diminished. Residence life has decreased, with students who will be willing to put in the time demanded and have the capabilities to handle problematic situations.

During the month of September, students returned to the campus, and a decreasing amount of security personnel have continued to be reported. Vandals know that they will get away with such acts. Their share of damages is little and they will get away with it.

But, security had better increase situations. Their numbers quickly. How safe do you feel? How secure do you feel?

The Comment, Thursday, October 6, 1988

If soeone operates only do not know how to connect one-campa camels, don't you think it is time those people were called on to give a few hours and some time to it? If more people are any indication, the answer is yes.

The question which has recently been proved this answer is, if you will, the lack of public awareness concerning the serious damage done to college campuses.

That said, I suppose perhaps the best way to bring awareness to this is to use the power of the press. That is, remember, the campus does not have a phone number. It's late--after 1:30 a.m.

How safe do you feel?

It's late-after 1:30 a.m. While walking around campus, feeling a little needy, I am often in doubt. How safe do you feel?

Quite often I find myself walking by a shiny window, if you know what I mean. If you don't know what I mean, you're not like me.

Resident hall security is a major problem for me. The class from which I've come (from the East Coast) is probably more used to seeing a nigger holding a gun than seeing one on campus. This is the problem with living in a multi-racial environment.

The current stats in the residence halls are pretty bad. People pass by, not being aware of what's going on. They are more interested in their own problems than the problems of others. This is why there are so many problems in the residence halls.

There are some students that state they are afraid of being turned onto security systems in the residence halls, and complain about the current 'sensibility' of the police force. The police force is not a group that can be trusted.

The inarticulate Vice President, George Bush, made an obvious campaign gaffe, by discussing the issue of welfare reform. He is not aware of the problems that exist in this area.

As he discussed the issue of welfare reform, he made a statement about how he would like to see the welfare system reformed. He stated that he wanted to see the welfare system reformed in order to give more help to the people who need it. He also stated that he wanted to see the welfare system reformed in order to cut the costs of the welfare system.

This is true but, on the other hand, we must remember that there is no such thing as a perfect system. Every system has its flaws and its weaknesses. It is important to look at the different aspects of the welfare system and to consider the pros and cons of each system.

As I stated earlier, the welfare system needs to be reformed. This is because the current system is not working well. The current system is not providing the help that is needed by the people who need it. It is not providing the help that is needed by the people who need it. It is not providing the help that is needed by the people who need it.

The system needs to be reformed, but it cannot be reformed in a way that will not affect the people who are currently receiving welfare. It is important to consider the needs of the people who are currently receiving welfare when reforming the welfare system.

We need to make sure that the reform of the welfare system is not a disaster. We need to make sure that the reform of the welfare system is not a disaster. We need to make sure that the reform of the welfare system is not a disaster.

Starting November first, college students across the nation will have the chance to play the stock market without the worry of going broke, by playing the First Annual AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge. This challenge is based on Wall Street Games, a year old educational game that actually creates the stock market. Over 10,000 students have already signed up to play, and Tim DeMello, founder of Wall Street Games, expects about 20,000 to sign up by registration deadline, the deadline is October 21st. The registration fee is $49.95, a relatively small figure compared to the $200,000 it costs AT&T to give away.

When a player signs up, he or she will receive an imaginary brokerage account of $50,000, a copy of Standard and Poor's Stock Guide, and an instruction packet that outlines all the ins and outs of the game. The player will trade in the game of the stock market, open November 1st, 1988 and end on February 15, 1989 when the market closes. By buying and selling shares, the students will try to build up their stock portfolio. A toll free number has been set up for the market makers for making their transactions through the "broker" of Wall Street Games.

This game is very realistic, it simulates the stock market by using up to the minute information and prices via modem, and they will be done during actual market hours. Each month, students will receive a personal account statement and a list of summary statements, so they can see how they are doing compared to other students. Various prizes will be awarded to the top players of each month.

When the game ends, the top 10 players of the biggest stock portfolio will receive $5,000 in cash prizes, with $5,000 going to the top player. The top 5 winners and their games will be flown to New York City for a special awards dinner, a Broadway play, and a tour of the New York Stock Exchange and AT&T's Research and Network Control Center in New Jersey. The top 5 players and their games will be flown to the Bahamas for a week’s vacation.

The college also benefits from the game. Any school with more than 50 players will receive a stock prize. The ten schools with the highest stock portfolios will win free access to an electronic news and research service.

DeMello, 29, is a former stockbroker from Boston, who developed Wall Street Games because some people are hesitant to play the stock market, and the game gives them a working knowledge of how the market operates.

"Underlying the competition and the prize is the educational value," DeMello said. "We think whether students finish the challenge with a million dollars or with a thousand dollars, they’ll have learned a lot about the financial market. And they’ll have fun doing it, too!"

For more information, or to register for the AT&T Collegiate Investment Challenge, call 1-800-545-1996.

Comedians come to BSC

By Mari Hahn, Comment staff

Club Soda, sponsored by Programmers, will showcase three comedians in the Campus Center Ballroom on Thursday evening at 8:30. The show was a sellout last semester.

Flyer was by C.W. Lewis. He made a joke about his sister-in- law who is a writer. He said he helps her with her work but he’s not too good at it. He said he has a lot of experience with garbage, including getting up with her and learning the second to the beach and having arguments with her. He was a mailman in his first job.

The second comedian, Who Coates had the audience laughing with his discussion of dating and marriage. He mentioned how a woman must support the man, or else the man will leave her. He mentioned how the man must support the woman, or else the woman will leave him. He mentioned how the man and woman must support each other, or else the relationship will end.

On the last day of the show, the laughs were louder than ever. The audience was on its feet, cheering and laughing. The comedians had the audience laughing from the first joke to the last. The show was a huge success and a huge hit with the audience.

Anonymous International: end of the progress

By Anna Langfeld and "Kevie" Richards

Comedians are facing an Anonymous International (AI) chapter here at Bridgewater State College. In their attempts to spread the word, the question most frequently asked is "What is Anonymous International?" and "How should I respond?"

AI is a worldwide network of independent people, who work to release prisoners of conscience, and fight for human rights. AI is a network of local groups, each representing the interests of the local community. AI works to promote the rights of all people, regardless of race, religion, or political beliefs. The game will begin when the stock market opens, November 1, 1988 and end on February 28, 1989 when the market closes. By buying and selling shares, students will try to build up their stock portfolio. A toll free number has been set up for the market 'brokers' for making their transactions through the "broker" of Wall Street Games.

This game is very realistic, it simulates the stock market by using up to the minute information and prices via satellite, and still trading is done during actual market hours. Each month, students will receive a personal account statement and a list of all the transactions, so they can see how they compare against other students. Various prizes will be awarded to the top 100 players of each month.

When the game ends, the ten schools with the highest stock portfolio average will receive $61,500 in cash prizes, with $25,000 going to the top player. The ten winners and their guests will be flown to New York City for a special awards dinner, a Broadway play, a tour of the New York Stock Exchange, and AT&T's personal computer and Network Control Center in New Jersey. The top 10 players and their guests will be flown to the Bahamas for a week's vacation.

The colleges also benefit from the game. Any student with the highest stock portfolio average will win free access to an electronic news service. DeMello, 29, a former stockbroker from Boston, who developed Wall Street Games, because some people are hesitant to play the stock market, and the game gives them a working knowledge of how the market operates.

"Underestimating the competition and the prize is the educational value," DeMello said. "We think whether students finish the challenge with a million dollars or with a thousand dollars, they'll have learned a lot about the financial market. And they'll have had fun doing it."

Students are forming an Amnesty International (AI) chapter here at Bridgewater State College. In their attempt to spread the word, the question most frequently asked was: "What is Amnesty International?" and "why should I become a member?"

AI is a worldwide network of people, who work for the release of prisoners of conscience. Such people, political prisoners, and political prisoners who in their work towards helping the political prisoner. It is important to understand what a political prisoner is.

Throughout the world there are individuals who are persecuted, imprisoned, and executed because of their beliefs, religion, or ethnic background which contrats to the views of the governing authorities. AI seeks to win freedom for people to speak out against those violations of human rights. It strives to focus on work on the individual prisoner, and out the political prisoners that imprisoned them. AI was founded in 1961 and has monitored on behalf of thousands of political prisoners in 25 foreign countries. For this work, AI received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1977. Recognition of the work that AI has gone on to produce the political prisoner. With this tool, AI can hope to make the victims of political persecution.

This was stated by a released prisoner of conscience from the Democratic Republic. "When the first two hundred names come to speak on the behalf of political prisoners."

Remember Elvis whether he is dead or alive in the musical of the 80's, "Elvis: That's the Way It Is". Melody, and Bill Bailey, and Bill Bailey's Angels and The trekky Girls. The show is filled with all the musical style and more concern together to create an unforgettable theatrical experience. The production of "Grease," the #1 Rock and Roll Musical, which is scheduled for the end of October. Dr. Stephen Levine of the Theatre Arts Department discuss the reasons which made him decide to do the musical along with a large cast of members from the college.

Levine has directed several shows here at Bridgewater, including A Streetcar Named Desire, and his last musical Chicago. He had two reasons for doing "Grease": "I know there is a lot of talent out there," Levine said, "I wanted to put it on stage." Ninety-seven people are cast in the show, and many talented people were not cast. I've never seen so much talent. Fifty-two people were cast in a show that originally targeted sixty cast people.

Second, Levine knew the popularity of "Grease," the second longest running musical on Broadway. He said, "There are more emotionally challenging songs, but it's just plain fun, a good time, and good music so far, it's really fun." "Grease" is a basic book musical with the hottest storyline and setting. The production involves the Burger Palace Boys, the Pink Ladies, and the student body at Rydell High. It laughs at the "grease" mentality of the day. The class rebel and the class dummy get together, and are played by the best actors. In music of the film with songs like "We Go Together," "Shakin' at the High School Hop," "All Shook Up," "Rock and Roll Part One." Anyone who goes up wearing a Happy Days or Six-Ne-No will love "Grease". It will be at the Campus Center Auditorium on October 18 and November 14, 3 to 8 p.m. Tickets go on sale soon. Come and have some fun with Ensemble Theatre.

Men's Soccer
The Mens Soccer team's winning streak came to a halt this past weekend when they hosted UMass Boston. UMass scored first, second, and last as Charlie Keskinidis placed all three goals deep in Bridgewater's net.

After losing Mike Meers in the first half to an injury, the Bears were unsuccessful in launching an attack against UMass. The Bears look to get back in the win column with their next home game, Thursday at 3:30.

Cross Country
Who are the unsung heroes of Bridgewater State College? One needs to look no further than the BSC Cross Country team. With talent exuding from the three top runners, Norman Atchue, Mel Gonsalves and Mike Kearns, they consistently lead the team to victory.

This past weekend at the Rhode Island Invitational, both Atchue and Gonsalves placed well in the top ten from a group of 170 runners, with the rest of the team making a fine showing as well. The team's next track meet for both the men and women will be Saturday, October 8 at the Codfish Invitational.

Field Hockey
The Field Hockey team battled Pine Manor College for a 4-0 victory on Tuesday. Scoring the winning goals for the Lady Bears were Kerri O'Rourke with two and Kathleen Carney with one. The Bears are 3-1-1 this season.

Women's Soccer
The Women's Soccer team went 1-1 last week after their two games. Friday the team played against Colby College, losing 1-0. Despite the fact that Bridgewater lost, they played a very strong game. Bridgewater was always on the ball, taking many shots at the goal. Once again the problem was with finishing. Bridgewater won Sunday's home game against North Adams 2-1. In the first half Bridgewater scored to share the field with North Adams, where as in the second half, they dominated it. Kerri O'Rourke scored the first goal for Bridgewater. O'Rourke scored the second with an assist from Kara Kennedy.

The team's next home game will be against VPI on Thursday, October 6 at 3:30 in front of the fans.

The Bridgewater State Men's Rugby team routed their game Saturday as they easily defeated Framingham State College 20-4. Several quick passing by the Visigoth backs set the pace for the game. Co-Captain Chris Murphy and Gary Parziale combined to get the ball down to Framingham territory in the first minutes of the game. Three consecutive scrums at the five meter mark, all won by the Visigoths, set the opening try scored by Rich Elder for four points.

Shortly after that a Visigoth line out was successfully caught by BSC and worked along the field vertically by the backs. This put the ball in position for another line out which was also won by BSC. Mark Mespelli, who is starting, ran into the try zone for another four points.

The first game pitted BSC against Colby College, one of the strongest teams in the conference. In the match, BSC players surprised many of the Colby players who had hoped to win.

After winning the opening try, the Visigoths went on to score 19 points before the half, which was scored by a drop kick and a penalty kick. The first half finished 19-0 in favor of BSC.

In the second half, the Visigoths came on strong, scoring one more try. However, they were shut down shortly after by the Visigoths, allowing them to score no more. Late in the game, Framingham had a last attempt to score, but they were stopped by BSC.

The game was called a win for BSC.

The conversion was successful, allowing BSC to win.
