Congress holds emergency meeting

Student Government Association Chairman of the Congress Patrick Pearce called an emergency meeting of the Congress to discuss legal matters and determine the wording of a referendum question which will appear on the voting ballot this Tuesday and Wednesday.

At their Tuesday night meeting, the Congress voted to recall a lawyer to seek further legal action against the Board of Trustees for their imposition of the $125 deficit assessment fee. Robert Bush is the lawyer who has been retained. As of yet, no contract has been determined. The contract would be determined at a later date through a contingency plan, and SGA President Marcia Medeiros would work out the contract. It would still have to be determined if Bush would accept the SGA's case.

Numerous members of the Congress wondered whether or not the students will see this as a viable course for the Congress to take. The Congress will meet this afternoon in an attempt to place on the ballot a referendum question, asking students if they would approve of this course of action.

As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. I'm also getting another $5,000 for tuition and books, thanks to the New GI Bill.

Not to mention my monthly Army Guard paychecks. They'll add up to more than $18,000 over the six years.

And if I take out a college loan, the Guard will help me pay it back—up to $1,500 a year, plus interest.

It all adds up to $18,000—or more—for college for just a little of my time.

And that's a heck of a better deal than any car wash will give you.

When my friends and I graduated from high school, we all took part-time jobs to pay for college.

They ended up in car washes and hamburger joints, putting in long hours for little pay.

Not me. My job takes just one weekend a month and two weeks a year. Yet, I'm earning $18,000 for college.

Because I joined my local Army National Guard.

They're the people who help our state during emergencies like hurricanes and floods. They're also an important part of our country's military defense.

So, since I'm helping them do such an important job, they're helping me make it through school.

International Saudi financier arrested as accomplice
Abbas Khatiboglu, the notorious Saudi financier once reputed to be the world's wealthiest man, was arrested Tuesday on charges he helped Ferdinand and Imelda Marcos hide stolen wealth from the Philippines. The jet-setting arms merchant, allegedly the man who held the Marcoses' funds, was arrested by police at an elegant Four Seasons hotel and jail, said Pierre Schmitz, assistant director of the Swiss Federal Police Office. Schmitz said the arrest came shortly after the US Embassy tipped off Swiss authorities that Khatiboglu was in the hotel and demanded his arrest. Khatiboglu, the Marcoses', family's friend and one of its' closest advisors, faces charges of stealing more than $100 million from the Philippine treasury to buy real estate and expensive art objects in New York.

Claim of achievement of nuclear fusion
A scientist said Tuesday a controlled, simultaneous test of a University of Utah's claim to have achieved nuclear fusion in a jar of water proved the energy produced did not come from a chemical reaction.

Robert Huggins, Stanford University professor of material sciences, and his experiment using palladium electrodes in jars of heavy water and plain water in a picnic basket produced energy that may have resulted from fusion. Huggins said he can't be sure the energy in their fusion, but in control it is not from a chemical reaction, as some other scientists have speculated. He has five experiments over two weeks using a jar of heavy water, or deuterium oxide, and a jar of plain water. He said that if the experiments had the same results it would determine that the energy was not from fusion.

Instead, he found much higher temperatures from the experiment, which meant the energy probably was not a chemical reaction because there is no essential chemical difference between the two kinds of water.

Abbie Hoffmeyer's brother disagrees with coverage
Abbie Hoffmeyer's brother disagrees with the coroner's decision that his brother's death was suicide. Hoffmeyer was a longtime radical activist.

"Anyone who knew my brother knows he would never have walked away from a challenge," said Jack Hoffman of Framingham. "If he were, he probably was never suicidal."

Andrea Belton, another of his friends, said, "Abbie is a very strong person." His family, she added, "is just heartbroken."

A necropsy on Abbie Hoffmeyer's body revealed he committed as many as 150 tablets of phenothiazine, a type of sedative, and some alcohol before he died in bed at age 52 in his New Hope, April home on Apr. 11.

"There's no hiding the fact my brother knew he was suicidal," Nee said. "We're not going to hide the fact suicide was the cause."

Instead, he found much higher temperatures from the experiment, which meant the energy probably was not a chemical reaction because there is no essential chemical difference between the two kinds of water.

Chancellor calls Murphy good choice

By John Bruno
Commerence staff

The selection of Lt. Gov. Evelyn Murphy to be the key-note speaker at this year's commencement ceremony has been the source of some amount of controversy at Bridgewater State, in recent weeks.

When asked his opinion on the issue, Chancellor of Higher Education Franklin Jenkins said that if he were a gradu- ing senior, and Murphy had been invited to speak, he would be "tickled." Questioned whether he thought Murphy, running for governor in 1989, might take the opportunity to turn the convocation into a campaign appearance, Jenkins replied that he didn't see that as being a problem.

"He said Murphy is an 'educator,'" Jenkins said. "He's talking in education, he's always been a strong supporter of educa- tion," according to Jenkins.

The chancellor added that Murphy's dedication to enhancing the field is evi- dent in the "Blueprint 2000" plan for education development.

The Board of Trustees an- nounced the selection of Murphy at last March meeting, an announcement which prompted complaints from vari- ous students and faculty. Rep- resentatives of CKEED also voiced disagreement with the decision.

Don’t forget to vote

T he Student Government Association’s Primary Elections are finally over. Now, the remaining candidate’s platform focuses on the final. As their attention shifts, so should the students. Remember to vote, it’s a primary role of any voter out of 650 people—more than the total that turned out to vote in the primary elections. The number of students who turn out in recent memory. This shows one point, that there might be an interest in who will lead for the upcoming year. The Urban League, which may now submit, is that students will forget to vote, since they have already voted once. Many seniors don’t realize that “First time” they vote to determine the finalists for one of the major positions. The next time is the all-important one.

The second time voting is for the selection of the candidates who will represent their views as Student Trustees, who will make decisions concerning the student’s money, as SGA Congressmen, and how the SGA runs the college. This is the only way for the students of Bridgewater State College to have a say. The best way for the students of Bridgewater State College to have a say is by electing those people who will be the ones running and what people are in the positions to effect change. The next time is the all-important one. The one problem which may now result, however, is that some students have not voted in last year’s final elections, and one of the higher positions. The next time is the all-important one. The best way for the students of Bridgewater State College to have a say is by electing those people who will be the ones running and what people are in the positions to effect change.

Craig Hall ‘thanked’ for his efforts and actions

I know everyone will support him as the S.G.A. President. But, this choice can only be made by voting.

The candidates’ main issues have centered around the fact that they want to “open communication” between the students and the administration. The best way for the students of Bridgewater State College to show in this by electing those people who will be willing to work with the administration and not for them. Students need a say in the day to day actions of the college. This decision can be better facilitated. The only way to do this is if students get out and vote.

Don’t forget to vote

The Student Government Association’s Primary Elections are finally over. Now, the remaining candidates for the local and regional elections will be focusing on the student body. With the inclusion of a slab of students who have already participated in the elections, this is a great opportunity for all candidates.

The real reason why I would like to see candidates for the upcoming local and regional elections is that there are many candidates who still need someone to vote for. This is something that most candidates will be aware of, and it is a great opportunity for them to advertise their campaigns. It is also important to remember that not all students are registered to vote, or are aware of the elections. With the inclusion of a slab of students who have already participated in the elections, this is a great opportunity for candidates to focus on the student body.

The current crop of students is large, and it is important to remember that not all students are registered to vote, or are aware of the elections. Congressman expresses views on return of MassPIRG to BSC

To The Editor:

I am writing to commend the work of the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group (MassPIRG) and to support the return of MassPIRG to Bridgewater State College. I believe that MassPIRG’s efforts to promote consumer protection and environmental awareness are invaluable.

MassPIRG has a long history of advocating for the rights of consumers and the environment. They have conducted research on a variety of issues, including toxic waste disposal, the safety of consumer products, and the impact of corporate pollution on local communities. Their work has helped to hold companies accountable for their actions and has improved the lives of many people.

MassPIRG’s return to BSC would be a welcome addition to the college community. It would provide students with an opportunity to learn more about the issues that MassPIRG addresses and to become involved in their efforts. Students could also participate in events and activities organized by MassPIRG, such as workshops and eco-friendly fairs.

I urge the administration to reconsider the decision to remove MassPIRG from BSC. I encourage them to support the return of MassPIRG and to work with the group to ensure that they continue to have a positive impact on the college community.

Sincerely,

International night attracts big crowd

It was an evening filled with sharing recipes, dances, and songs

By Chris Carneill

If this is not a typical sunny story I do not know what is. Last year I went to the International Night as a typical college student who was raised with little exposure to different cultures and traditions. This year I was able to participate in the exciting experience of International Night.

New contraception pill creates controversy

The Comment

To name it is known as "The French Pill." Others call it "The French Pill." Whatever the name, RU-486 will be controversial for years to come.

RU-486 has been under fire for years because of its potential to cause cancer and other side effects. It has been linked to an increase in cancer rates and to an increase in the number of women who develop breast cancer.

The French government has been considering RU-486 as an option for women who have had an abortion. In 1992, the government announced that it would be allowed to use RU-486 for women who had abortions.

The International Journal of Gynecology and Obstetrics reports that RU-486 is 95% effective at preventing pregnancy. However, the pill can cause side effects, including nausea, vomiting, and headaches.

The pill can also cause irregular bleeding and spotting. It is not recommended for women who have had a current or past history of heart disease, stroke, or diabetes.

The pill is also more expensive than other birth control options. For example, the pill costs $50 per month, while a coil costs $10 and a condom costs $1.

Dance Company stretches the limits of modern dance

By Pete Ashworth

Full Force Together In Draguet for a Hardow Showdown. I believe I've been to the East Coast Strip for a week and a half. It was an opportunity to see the performances of the Synchronic Dance Company.

They presented several different styles and genres of dance. The choreography of the dancers ranged from serious to just plain silly. The dancers were choreographed by both modern and professional choreographers.

The dance was an entertaining experience and the music was a definite highlight of the program. The audience was captivated by the performances and the music was a great addition to the overall experience.

To name it is known as “The French Pill.” Others call it “The Dutch Pill.” Whatever the name, RU-486 will be controversial for years to come. RU-486 has been on the market since 1982, and it quickly became apparent that the drug was presently available exclusively in France. As a result of protests and demonstrations, the drug is presently available exclusively in France. The French government has sold the RU-486 in pill form of 500mg. They have two days later for an injection of RU-486 an action and reduces the risk of hemorrhage. The chemical abortion costs about one hundred RU-486 outside of France.

The French government is sold the RU-486 has one side effect. The new pill is 95% effective in causing a complete abortion by chemically inhibiting the development of the placenta. RU-486 and prostaglandin must be taken together in the first forty-nine days of the last menstrual cycle. This type of abortion eliminates the possibility of the surgically performed abortion or surgical abortion, and greatly reduces the risk of hemorrhage or induction from the hospital abortion. Officials of the World Health Organization say this is a safe and efficacious alternative to the undiluted abortion in the third world countries where this pill is available.

Full Yourself Together in Draguet for a New York Show!

I was fortunate enough to attend the dance company’s show at the Coliseum on 76th Street. The show was a wonderful introduction to the company’s style of dance. The music was a mix of dance and spoken word. The audience was either dancing or singing along with the music. The show was a perfect way to introduce myself to the company’s style of dance.

The show began with a group of dancers performing a dance number to music. The dancers were wearing costumes that were very colorful. The music was a mix of dance and spoken word. The dancers were very talented and seemed to be really enjoying themselves.

After the dance number, the show continued with a spoken word piece. The spoken word piece was a mix of poetry and dance. The dancers were speaking while dancing, which was very impressive. The spoken word piece was very engaging and kept the audience interested.

The show ended with a dance number that was a mix of modern and contemporary dance. The dancers were wearing costumes that were very colorful. The music was a mix of dance and spoken word. The dancers were very talented and seemed to be really enjoying themselves.

"The Department of Education wants to continue to help schools and colleges build a legacy of health care;" said Randy Wales, health care's coordinator of the PW A speakers program.

The program is designed not only to give students, faculty, and staff information about the disease and how to prevent it, but also to explore the human costs of the tragedy of AIDS and students' personal stories by having them meet a person with AIDS face-to-face.

"Health education is difficult with healthy, young people who don't see their own risk to disease. This program seeks to introduce the campus community to a person with AIDS to help them understand that they are, indeed, vulnerable should they engage in various unprotected behaviors," explained Randy Wales, health care's coordinator of the PW A speakers program.

International

The evening consisted of a dinner, multicultural entertainment, and a dance. Half of the food was prepared by students with dishes such as a Spanish salad, a Chinese noodle dish, two Italian pastas, Cape Verdian dessert turnovers, and several desserts. Half of the entertainment was performed by members of the college. It ranged from the intricate moves of the Indian dancers and mime show, to the folk music of the Scottish, Irish, Canadian, and Chinese players, to the modern-day love song written and performed by students. But for those who waited, the final act was the exotic and unusual Cape Verdian dancers who came from a Boston high school to perform.

The International Night has become such a success, that the International Club is planning to put together a recipe book for those who are interested in finding the special international secrets in cooking.

How does it feel to be someone with AIDS?

Barbary Evans, AIDS Coordinator for Bridgewater State College Health Services and the AIDS Task Force, has invited a person living with the AIDS virus to speak to students, faculty, and staff Tuesday, April 25 at 10:50 a.m. The Person with AIDS speakers program (PW A) is collaborative effort between Health Care of Southeastern Massachusetts and the Department of Education and is based on a similar program operated by the city of San Francisco. The program has also received strong support and advice from the Department of Public Health. Bridgewater State College is one of the first colleges in the region to take advantage of this new, pilot AIDS education effort.

Sigma Chi donates time and money to scholarship and clinic

By Doug Eckelkamp

The Sigma Chi fraternity, in conjunction with the events of their fundraiser Derby Daze, will be holding their first annual balloon launch. The event will take place on the quad in front of Boyden Hall on Friday, April 28 at noon time. The participants of Derby Daze will "selling balloons" to students, friends, and families in order to raise money for a scholarship.

The scholarship will be awarded to a woman who is self sufficient and shows financial need. It is in that spirit that the scholarship is based. All students are encouraged to show their support for the students involved in the fund raising for this scholarship, the Cleo Wallace Center, and the Children's Clinic, by sponsoring girls in this and many other events during Derby week.

When talking to Derby Daze co-chairman Dave Rumrill said, "close to three hundred students have signed up to participate in these events."

This scholarship is set up in the memory of Terry Auchoin, a student who passed away last year. Auchoin was involved with the Phi Sigma Sigma sorority, and worked hard to earn enough money to get through college. It is in that spirit that the scholarship is based. All students are encouraged to show their support for the students involved in the fund raising for this scholarship, the Cleo Wallace Center, and the Children's Clinic, by sponsoring girls in this and many other events during Derby week.

Post-marketed. It is the only other government besides France to have approved the pill for oral use.

If RU-486 remains illegal for doctors to administer outside France, there is little doubt that the drug will be smuggled out. Black markets will appear in countries where abortion is illegal. Women will take the drug without medical supervision. They will be taking homeage or contraception abortion.

An expert at reproductive union says it will be years before RU-486 could be sold in the United States. Ironically, this situation is not a result of pro-life efforts. Rather, drug companies that high research costs, coupled with low potential profit margins make the abortion pill prohibitive.

Large diversified drug companies are also extremely wary of the immense risk that liability suits may impinge. "In the wake of the Tecfence Shield and Copper 7, it is clear that companies will back away from abortions and contraceptives," said the drug company analyst, Ronald Nordman.

Other analysts say that a smaller drug company may be more likely to market RU-486. Their risks would be relatively smaller and their potential profit greater than a large pharmaceutical company. As of yet however, no American company has applied for a marketing agreement with Roussel-Uclaf.

There's more than one litter problem in your neighborhood.

They never asked to be born, but their mother's owners figured the local animal shelter would surely find them good homes.

They didn't realize that most of the 13.5 million unwanted animals put to death each year are not strays. They're puppies and kittens born in nice homes like yours that have to be killed to make room for more.

Having your pet spayed or neutered is the only way to reduce the sad number of ownerless dogs and cats destroyed this year. It will also increase your pet's chances of living a longer and healthier life.

That responsibility is yours alone. You'll never stop your pets from acting naturally. But if you love them, you'll have their fixed.
