In September, Dr. Hugo D'Alarcao, a distinguished member of the Mathematics faculty died suddenly. A highly respected teacher and scholar, Dr. D'Alarcao served as a model for both his students and his fellow colleagues. To Hugo and the other distinguished faculty who passed away in the last few years — Murray Abramson, John DeLuca, Kathleen Ittig, Robert Larson, Robert McCurdy, Hazel Schopp, Richard Stafford and William Wall — we dedicate this issue of the Bridgewater Review.
